

RAIL BILL MUST DIE, UNIONS DECREE

LAST HOPE FOR O'BRIEN FADES; TO HANG TODAY

Prisoners Barred; Pals Bare "Plot."

John ("Smiling Jack") O'Brien, 22 years old convicted slayer of Detective Sergeant Richard J. Burke, will be hanged in the county jail at 10 o'clock this morning, unless there is some sudden reversal of official judgment.

The hopes of his friends and relatives faded last night as every attempt to gain a reprieve, commutation, or pardon met with failure. Lieut. Gov. Oglesby was en route to Chicago. It was said strenuous appeals reached his ears at Elkhart during the evening.

O'Brien himself, buoyed up for months by the thought that powerful friends in the underworld would save him from the noose, broke down as he said good-bye to his mother, his two sisters, and his three brothers, two of whom are fellow prisoners in the county jail.

Bars Prisoners at Hanging.

But, contrary to the long announced plan of Sheriff Peters, the execution was to be public. While the pounding of hammers in the jail corridors seemed that construction of the gallows had begun, arrangements for the transfer of the prisoners nearby were under way.

Sheriff Peters, however, announced that the gallows for public executions was not being used.

"My spirit is broken," he declared, "and I am going to fight. I am still convinced I am right, but this is not the proper time to assert my rights. I am going to the gallows, but I am going to the gallows with my eyes open, and I am going to the gallows with my hands on my hips."

The sheriff's plans for the O'Brien hanging had been rudely interrupted during the day by statements from the attorney general's office and State's Attorney Hynes challenging the legality of having prisoners as witnesses. Lieutenant Governor Oglesby, too, in the request of numerous civil orators, sent the following telegram to Chicago:

"The sheriff's plans relating to the hanging of John O'Brien received. If the sheriff of Cook county violates the statute in the execution of John O'Brien, it will be the duty of the attorney general to prosecute him for such violation, but in my opinion a violation of the statute in the execution of John O'Brien will not warrant granting O'Brien a reprieve."

John Y. Farwell, president of the company of the same name, at night sent a congratulatory note to State's Attorney Hynes on the success of the latter's protest against the sheriff's plan.

Reprieve Is Denied O'Brien.

O'Brien refused a reprieve during the day by Lieut. Gov. Oglesby, was immediately taken to the death cell in the county jail by Jailer Will T. Davis. Meantime new disclosures regarding the case were presented to William Colvin of the state parole board, by friends of O'Brien.

Among them was a signed statement by Jack Keating, whom O'Brien had named as one of the messengers between him and Enright in connection with the alleged frame-up of the case. Keating's statement follows:

"I know Jack O'Brien did not fire the shot that killed Detective Sergeant Burke, although I was not on the scene. I talked to O'Brien and an associate he didn't do the killing."

"After the affair I heard Moss Enright tell O'Brien that if he would stand up in defense, he (Enright) would receive a life term in the penitentiary and a pardon. I also talked to Moss."

H. M. Joyce, editor of the Democrat, Fort Madison, Ia., and L. H. Danley, a guard at the penitentiary where Keating is serving a term for bank robbery, witnessed the statement.

"N. Moss Had Lived."

Yesterday when Mrs. Edgerton O'Brien, mother of the condemned man, returned home she found the following note from Keating addressed to "Smiling Jack," written a few days ago:

"Dear Jack: Well, little s---, you are you bearing up under the strain on page 4, column 4."

NO TRIAL FOR HINDENBURG, SAYS BERLIN

Specify Each Crime, Allies Fear Told.

BY PARKE BROWN.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1920, by The Tribune Company.)

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—Germany intends to prosecute vigorously every man on the extradition list against whom there is prima facie evidence of the commission of crime. But Germany has no intention whatever of instituting proceedings against Gen. von Hindenburg, Bethmann-Hollweg, and other leaders unless the charges specify individual crimes.

Following the session of the cabinet which considered the last note of the allies Eugene Schiffer, minister of justice, left no doubt regarding this. He said Germany was determined to hasten as much as possible, but that the difficulty of locating witnesses, some of whom are in distant colonies, forced delay.

Special Law Enacted.

"For the prosecution of crimes of war the national assembly enacted a special law last December, which passed unanimously," he said. "We already have begun work on all the cases which have been brought to our attention. We want to punish every one of the guilty to the full extent of the law, but at the same time the innocent shall be protected."

"Generals who conducted battles in the course of which people were killed and places devastated or property otherwise destroyed for strategic reasons and not criminal purposes are not criminals. The German law also says a man is not responsible for acts committed in conformity with orders of his superior. The subordinate is only responsible if he exceeds the orders or executes them knowing them to be a violation of civil or criminal law."

"Do Not Fear Daylight."

"We have no cause to fear the full daylight. I cannot tell how long the trials will take, probably a long time for many cases involve a long hunt for witnesses, some of whom are in distant countries. But we will do everything we can to accelerate the investigations."

"Our speed depends on the speed with which the international council sends necessary materials. The defendants against whom evidence is ready will be tried very soon, possibly inside of a few weeks."

Curacao Isle for Kaiser?

PARIS, Feb. 19.—Suggestion that former Emperor William be sent to the island of Curacao, off the Venezuelan coast, are received more favorably in some quarters at The Hague than the idea of transporting him to one of the Dutch East Indies, according to the Matin. The newspaper says the last allied note to the Dutch government caused evident embarrassment at the Dutch capital.

FRYATT CASE REOPENED

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—[By the Associated Press.]—Examination of the official text of the last allied note sent to the German government relative to the trial of men accused of war crimes shows that a significant passage was omitted from the Paris version published here on Tuesday afternoon. This passage refers to a stipulation by the entente that the previous verdicts at trials of German war offenders must be annulled and that they be remanded for new trials.

This provision, the Freiheit says, means the reopening of the Fryatt case, in which a German commission decided the execution of Fryatt, captain of a British merchantman, was not a violation of international law.

NEW MEXICO FOR SUFFRAGE; 4 MORE NEEDED

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 19.—The house of representatives of the New Mexico legislature this afternoon ratified the federal woman suffrage amendment by a vote of 36 to 10. The senate passed the resolution yesterday by a vote of 17 to 5.

The winning of New Mexico gives the amendment thirty-two states with only four more needed to put it into force.

Four Collect $2,000 Union Dues with Gun

A robbery recalling the spectacular stunts of Jesse James and the Dalton boys was staged in Chicago shortly before midnight last night.

The members had been coming in and paying their dues all evening at the meeting of local 233 of the International Moulders' union at Hodcarriers' hall, Green and Harrison streets. The business and speechmaking was concluded before 11 o'clock and at that hour $2,000 in nickels, dimes, dollars, and small checks reposed in the drawer of the desk at which sat Paul Becker, financial secretary of the union. All but about a dozen had gone home. Becker was about to stuff the money into a sack and take it to his home until banking hours tomorrow.

Two Guns Each.

Outside a large black limousine slid softly up to the curb. Four men jumped from the tonneau. They walked swiftly to the entrance. They went in.

Each of the four yanked two guns from his pockets.

"Hey, all of you. Stick 'em up! Lively there!"

The gossipers whirled around and looked at the artillery. Up went twenty-four hands. Becker, signing the last receipt, joined in the compliance, making twenty-six hands uplifted.

Makes It Simple.

Three of the robbers lined the gossipers against the wall and kept the armament steadily pointed in a definite and convincing manner. The fourth, shoving one gun back in his pocket, and keeping Becker covered with the other, walked toward Becker. He knew what he was there for. He walked straight to the money drawer, took out the $2,000, and backed away.

Then the four backed out, their guns still commanding silence and inactivity. Reaching the door, they dashed against the gang by the grand jury.

ROBBERS HOLD UP OFFICE TO GET EVEN ON BONDS

How two members of the Youngblood gang of robbers and safeblowers held up the offices of Miller & Abbott in room 621 Ashland block and collected exactly $250—the amount they had paid for bond fees—from five bond runners, was disclosed yesterday while indictments "were being returned against the gang by the grand jury."

One of the agents of the bondsmen was passing through the state's attorney's offices when he saw David Walsh, one of the accused men.

"That's the guy who stuck us up," he said.

Pressed by Detective Sergeant Patrick Hamilton, head of the automobile squad, the bondsmen told how Charles Youngblood and Walsh, while in jail four months ago, had paid $250 for their liberty and "a mouthpiece." They were released, but were rearrested. When they got out again they went to the bondsmen's office to "collect."

"We took only the $250 that was coming to us," Youngblood grumbled.

Village Blacksmith Quits Forge He Served 60 Years

Waukegan, Ill., Feb. 19.—[Special.]—James Dady, the "Village Blacksmith" of Waukegan, Ill., today completed his sixtieth year in the blacksmithing business and decided to retire. THE HAGUE, Feb. 19.—The second chamber of the Dutch parliament voted, 57 to 5, in favor of Holland's entrance to the league of nations. It adopted a resolution placing interpretations on some phases of Holland's adherence to the league.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Sharp differences of opinion as to leaving the Turks in possession of Constantinople have arisen between members of the British cabinet, according to the Daily Mail, which says the position of the government in this matter is "in no wise easy, although it would be inaccurate to say there is a crisis."

BUREAU TO PUT HUSBANDS UPON 'MORAL' RATINGS

Glen Campbell, Pa., Feb. 19.—[Special.]—Husbands of this community in the future will be rated under a "moral pedigree." Intended husbands also will come under the classification. At least so say sixty-six of Glen Campbell's leading women, who have formed a secret organization the object of which will be to "know a man morally."

According to its sponsors, the new organization was formed to clean up the morals of the community, particularly the morals of the husbands. The women are establishing a sort of "moral credit bureau," which proposed to gather all the facts regarding a husband's conduct, keep it on file at headquarters, and submit a confidential report to any woman who suspects her mate and asks for his rating.

"Before we finish we will have the 'moral pedigree' of every husband and intended husband in this community," said one member.

Lifeboat in Readiness.

So precarious was the ship's position regarded that the fifty members of the crew asked for instructions in case of emergency. The company ordered Capt. Reddenger to have a lifeboat in readiness for action, but asked the crew to stand as long as possible. Tugs were immediately dispatched, but they could do nothing. A diver was also taken out. He located the leak, but did not have the mechanical equipment necessary to repair it.

The lifeboat was slung ready for service throughout the night. As the steamer continued to take water despite the working of the pumps it was seen that the freight must be removed. So crews were towed out and the task of lightering was continued through the night. Some of the freight was damaged by water. The crew was without provisions, as the kitchen and commissary had been flooded. There were few passengers aboard, no women. It was stated.

It Saved the Neff.

Another effort will be made to rescue the steamer today. It achieved publicity some weeks ago when, commanded by Capt. Stufflebeam, it bucked through a six mile ice field and liberated the Sidney O. Neff.

"SEA DRAMA" IN HEART OF CITY

Fight to Salvage Cargo in Park Shipwreck.

A marine drama unique in spectacular and commercial interest was staged last night a quarter of a mile off Belmont avenue, one hundred men with flotillas of tugs and scows working from sunset until dawn to unload a $50,000 freight cargo from the liner Alabama, flagship of the Goodrich Transit company fleet.

Fast on a submerged concrete superstructure of an abandoned crib, the steel steamer, built in 1910 at a cost of $400,000, resisted efforts of the most powerful tugs to pull it out. A leak in the bow caused water to be taken rapidly, and at midnight sixteen feet was reported in all holds. The engine room was saved by its water tight bulkhead doors, and the pumps were in operation all night.

Veteran Skipper in Command.

Capt. Elmer Reddenger, a veteran lake skipper and in point of service senior captain of the Goodrich fleet, was in command of the Alabama when it ran aground of the crib yesterday. He was substituting for Capt. Gerald Stufflebeam, the regular skipper.

The Alabama was bound from Muskegon to Chicago with a cargo of automobiles, household furniture, and foodstuffs. A dense fog enveloped the lake yesterday and the sunrise is that Capt. Reddenger was endeavoring to pick up the Gross Point strain, probably working in the way around an ice field, when he encountered the crib.

RAIL BACK PAY OF 200 MILLIONS HINGES ON SUIT

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 19.—Two million employees of the United States railroad administration would be entitled to overtime averaging $100 each if a suit against Director General Walker D. Hines begun here today is successful, according to I. F. Goldenhorn, counsel for the plaintiff. Joseph P. Polachowski, a deckhand on a Pennsylvania railroad tug, claims overtime amounting to $394 for the period between Jan. 1 and Sept. 1, 1918, during which he worked twelve hours a day "under the exigencies of war."

It is contended that he should have received time and a half for the time over eight hours under the Adamson act. Counsel for Director General Hines asserted that the employees had accepted a bonus in lieu of overtime. Decision was reserved.

SHELL BORES ITS WAY THROUGH 13 INCHES OF ARMOR

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—Boring its way through more than thirteen inches of armor belt steel, a sixteen inch projectile produced at the new naval ordnance plant at South Charleston, West Virginia, the third shell fired out of a test group of five, met every requirement in a test today at the Indian Head, Maryland, proving grounds, and established what naval officers believe to be a record in big shell penetration.

The sixteen inch projectile, which weighs 2,100 pounds, against the 1,400 pounds of the fourteen inch shell, will be turned out in quantities at the South Charleston plant for the sixteen inch guns of the dreadnaught style ships under construction.

LABOR'S STAND CAUSES ROW IN HOUSE 'CAUCUS'

Attack Centered on Earnings Pledge.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—[Special.]—Leaders of the railroad brotherhoods and of the American Federation of Labor tonight, at a meeting of more than 100 members of the house of representatives, demanded that the compromise railroad bill be killed. The labor leaders, in insisting the legislation be defeated, declared it was "inimical to the rights and interests of labor."

The sections guaranteeing a return of 5 1/2 per cent on capital invested in railroads and those providing for settlement of wage and other disputes between railroads and their employes the labor leaders declared particularly obnoxious to them.

The attitude of the labor leaders aroused the ire of Representative Sanders, Republican, of Indiana, whose charge that "members of congress had been called into caucus to be dictated to by union labor" nearly caused the conference to end in a row.

"Called to Defeat Bill."

"This meeting was called to defeat the railroad bill," Sanders shouted. "In order to foist government ownership upon the country."

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, who was seated near by, he arraigned for having "unjustifiably and indiscriminately insulted the present congress."

Turning to face murmurs of disapprobation, Sanders shook a forefinger at the labor leaders and declared: "You can't have your own way about everything."

As Representative Mead, Democrat of New York arose and declared "the man who will say this meeting was surreptitiously called is a liar," a dozen congressmen, including Mr. Sanders, jumped to their feet and turmoil reigned until Mead consented to withdraw his assertion insofar as it might have been construed to include Sanders.

Owners Pledge Cooperation.

The meeting was the finale of a sort of railroad bill carnival. The union leaders had been in conference for hours, while Director General Hines had discussed the future of the roads with leading railroad executives, who represented the viewpoint of private owners. These pledged their cooperation for a solution of the wage problem.

Meanwhile, Representative Barkley, Democrat, of Kentucky, who, with Representative Sims, Democrat, of Tennessee, refused to sign the conference report on the compromise measure and will lead the fight on the bill on the floor of the house, issued a statement condemning those sections opposed in the memorial of the labor leaders. He declared passage of the bill would increase freight rates 25 per cent. He also opposed the fixing of a rate of return to railroad investors.

Strike Pledge Revealed.

Another development was the disclosure that railway unions and three of the brotherhoods have formed an absolute compact to stand together to protect each other in all questions of policy, even to the extent of a strike. The agreement between the railway unions and three of the brotherhoods was signed three days before the railway employees' leaders went to the White House to consult with President Wilson upon their wage demands. The three brotherhood chiefs who signed the agreement were W. G. Lee of the trainmen, L. E. Sheppard of conductors, and Timothy Shea of the firemen. The name of Warren S. Stone of the engineers was not attached to the document.

Gompers "Sees Joker."

The clash at tonight's meeting, it developed, resulted from the fact that some members, including Sanders, had believed the invitation to attend was a call to a party caucus. It was after Gompers had attacked the bill that the trouble started.

Gompers told the representatives that while penalties for striking had been eliminated from the bill the labor sections had been cunningly devised to permit the restraint of strikes by the injunction process. He read a telegram alleged to have been sent by A. P. Thoms to railway executives explaining that although the criminal provisions had been stricken out the original object of the anti-strike provision could be achieved by injunction.

...with the added advantage that under the injunction process there would be no jury trial of strikers.

"There are no penal clauses in the labor sections of the bill," he said, "and apparently employees are as free to strike as ever. But recent history has shown and the 100 lawyers in the house know full well that more pressure and suppression may be practiced through the use of injunction proceedings than is possible through the ordinary processes of the courts."

Comptroller's complaint was merely incidental in the long list submitted in a memorial by the union.

"Labor Deprived of Rights."

"The pending bill in its provisions under title 2 deprives citizens employed on railways of the inviolate right to enjoy gains of their own industry," says the memorial submitted by the unions. "The returns to capital are fixed upon an arbitrary basis, the rate which the public must pay and wages which labor must receive must accommodate themselves to this basis fixed for capital."

"This act makes Congress predominant. It makes the public and labor subservient to capital. For these reasons herein set forth and many others we request and respectfully urge that the bill be defeated in its entirety."

"Railroad employees never have and do not now seek to be treated as a privileged class, but we ask and expect just and equitable treatment and the continuation of our inalienable right to have an equal voice, representation, and vote in any tribunal created by law or mutual agreement which is to establish by its decisions the compensation we are to receive for our efforts and the working conditions under which our services must be rendered."

Attacking the guaranteed return provision the memorial says that hitherto competition has been relied upon to keep railroad rates from becoming extortionate and adds:

"It is proposed that we abandon that theory. This act denies to the public the benefit of competition, the public to pay 6 per cent not as compensation for services rendered the public but upon a value of their property as determined by an administrative body."

"Heretofore, it has always been held that the basis upon which compensation was to be received must be judicially determined. The rate of compensation to be allowed was the subject of legislative determination. By this act we would abandon these established precedents and make both the rate and basic questions of administration beyond the power of judicial review and beyond the control of legislative sanction."

"Government Prostitution."

"By this bill the government which is constituted for the common good is prostituted to establish the private interests of holders of railway securities as a class, giving to them a first lien upon the property of the country at the expense of all other citizens, investors, producers, and consumers. This is an intolerable perversion of the principles of American government, an abandonment of government for the common good, the establishment of government for private interest, special privileges, and class benefits."

The unions charge that the labor sections of the bill are designed to annul existing wages and other agreements. They object to the provision requiring a labor member of the labor board to sever affiliation with his union. As union leaders cannot be expected to give up such affiliation they would be ineligible and the unions will be deprived of representation on the board created to settle disputes.

Want Wage Guarantee.

This provision says the memorial "but reinforces an already justified conclusion that the provisions of this act were never intended to serve as an instrument to preserve or promote harmonious relations between railroad labor and the carriers. They practically insure the nomination and appointment of nine members, six of whom can be fairly said to represent interests other than labor, and three representing the employers."

The union leaders also presented this objection to the provision prohibiting wage reductions before Sept. 1.

"While railroad labor is guaranteed against a reduction of wages under this act prior to Sept. 1, 1920, yet neither the interests of the public or labor are safeguarded after that date. On the other hand, capital is guaranteed a minimum return of 5 1/2 per cent, leaving both the public and labor at the mercy of capital after Sept. 1, 1920."

WILSON FRAMES TART ANSWER ON ADRIATIC ROW

Won't Tolerate New Plan or London Pact.

By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—(Special.)—With consideration of the peace treaty at a standstill as a result of the president's threat to withdraw it from the senate, Mr. Wilson devoted today to framing his reply to Great Britain, France, and Italy regarding the settlement of the Adriatic question those powers have proposed without consulting the American executive.

Mr. Wilson's memorandum was sent to the state department for embodiment in a formal note, but Acting Secretary of State Polk thought it could scarcely be dispatched before tomorrow.

The president has asked the European powers to consent to the publication of the complete correspondence, beginning with the revised Adriatic settlement of Dec. 9, to which he authorized Mr. Polk, then in Paris, to agree.

Can't Tolerate New Deal.

In the rejoinder drafted today the president takes issue with the reasons presented by the allies for upsetting the agreement of Dec. 9 and serving an ultimatum on the Jugo-Slavs to accept either the new plan, granting additional concessions to Italy or the terms of the secret treaty of London.

The president is unable to tolerate either the new scheme devised by the allies or the Senate Lodge, both of which he deems destructive of the principle of self-determination of nations and grossly unjust to the Jugo-Slavs.

Although Senator Lodge, recovered from his indisposition, returned to the senate today, the treaty was not brought up, and the prospect was that it would be laid aside pending the outcome of the Fiume controversy and Mr. Wilson's decision concerning his threatened withdrawal of the pact.

League's Covenant Suffers.

Whatever the issue of the president's differences with the allies over Fiume, it is already apparent that the treaty, particularly the league of nations covenant, has suffered from the doubts of the expediency of American ratification raised by the president himself.

Even if the allies should yield completely to Mr. Wilson on the Fiume question, as Senator Lodge predicts they will in order to preserve American participation in European affairs, it is a foregone conclusion that the opposition will return to the fray vastly strengthened with arguments of the president's own making.

Wilson Changes Front?

Mr. Wilson informs the allies in effect that he would not have the United States enter a league of nations in which he would assume an obligation under article X to preserve territorial boundaries of Jugo-Slavia and Italy which he pronounces unjust and upon the delimitation of which the United States was not consulted.

The opposition welcomes Mr. Wilson to the fold, contending that the United States should assume no obligation to preserve many other boundaries, the injustice of which may be expected to breed foreign wars involving America, unless exempted.

"The Heart of the World."

Senators upbraided by Mr. Wilson for breaking "the heart of the world" in the course of their efforts to protect American rights and interests also welcome evidence that the president by withdrawing the treaty would not hesitate "to break the heart of the world" even in a dispute alien to American concerns.

Mr. Wilson has produced a situation in which he cannot reasonably expect to procure ratification of the treaty in any event save by acceptance of the Lodge reservations. If Mr. Wilson should press the ratification of the treaty again, but refuse to accept the Lodge reservations, there would recur in more insistent form the question of divorcing the covenant from the peace terms or declaring peace by resolution.

Constitution Is 'All Cut Up'; 'Dr.' Mason Rushes to Rescue

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—(Special.)—The resolution introduced in the house of representatives by Representative William E. Mason of Chicago appertaining to Secretary Lansing's "smashing" of the constitution as President Wilson charges—has aroused much comment and merriment around the capital. Mr. Mason's alert appreciation of the national calamity involved in Mr. Lansing's action is coupled with a sense of humor.

Text of Resolution.

His resolution was referred to the committee and ordered printed. It follows:

"Whereas, The people have heard with fear and trembling the startling news that one Robert Lansing, late secretary of state, has willfully and wantonly and with malice aforethought, broken the constitution of the United States by calling informally to other members of the cabinet and talking over interdepartmental affairs."

"Whereas, The same people are shocked and chagrined beyond measure and 'view with alarm' the fact that other members of the cabinet have been present at such unconstitutional gatherings and have conspired together with Robert Lansing to break, destroy, and utterly demolish the constitution of the United States."

"Whereas, The heart of the world is broken and all are waiting to see whether the United States of America can continue to exist on a broken constitution."

"Whereas, It is charged in defense of the late secretary of state that he did not usurp the powers of the president but that he attempted to usurp the powers of one Joseph Tumulty, at one time, and still, secretary to the president of the United States."

"Clandestine Meeting."

"Whereas, It has also been reported that Secretary Joseph Daniels, now secretary of the navy, and Newton Baker, now secretary of war, met clandestinely in the hallway in the building known as the state, war, and navy building and conversed upon the subject of the evidence of one Rear Admiral Sims, which evidence involved interdepartmental matters."

"Whereas, It is further rumored that one Albert Burleson, still postmaster general, has repeatedly urged the constitution of the United States by seeking the advice of the department of justice as to how he could possibly destroy unfriendly newspapers and also how he could increase the inefficiency of the postal service by reducing the pay of the employees of the postal department."

"Whereas, It is rumored that our constitution has not been broken but that, on the contrary, this 'tempest in a teapot' between the ex-secretary of state and the president of the United States began immediately after the said ex-secretary of state stated to one William C. Bullitt, an attaché of the American delegation to the peace conference, that 'if the American people ever read this league of nations in the peace treaty they will beat it.'"

"Resolved."

"Therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the committee on foreign affairs be directed to investigate at once and report forthwith: First, whether the constitution has been broken and destroyed, and, second, whether same is broken beyond repair, and, third, to recommend whether we should adopt a new constitution or repair the old one, and, fourth, as to how the American people could best live on their by-laws while the new constitution is being adopted or the old one repaired."

"Resolved, further, That they shall report particularly what article of the constitution was broken by the said late secretary of state and whether the members of the cabinet were equally guilty of breaking the constitution by attending an unconstitutional, informal gathering, called by the late secretary of state, and if any of the members of the cabinet have so dangerously broken the constitution have been asked to resign, and if not, why not."

"Resolved, further, That they shall report particularly what article of the constitution was broken by the said late secretary of state and whether the members of the cabinet were equally guilty of breaking the constitution by attending an unconstitutional, informal gathering, called by the late secretary of state, and if any of the members of the cabinet have so dangerously broken the constitution have been asked to resign, and if not, why not."

ALLIES' REPLY TO WILSON OUTLINED BY ROME WRITER

Told He Would Destroy "New French Policy."

Buenos Aires, Feb. 19.—A summary of the main points in the allied reply to President Wilson's Adriatic note, cabled by the Rome correspondent of La Nación, discloses that President Wilson threatened to withdraw his signature from the British-French-American treaty establishing security for France, to which the allies reply that such action would destroy absolutely the "new French policy," for which President Wilson invited protection.

The fundamental points of the reply to President Wilson, according to the correspondent are:

First: The allies answer the accusation of having prepared a convention for the annexation of Fiume to Italy, which presupposes bad faith on the part of Italy, by saying that President Wilson is unable to demonstrate this.

Second: The Italian petition for the establishment of territorial contiguity with Fiume is a very small thing compared with the question of Dalmatia, which the whole world is able to prove by merely examining the map of Europe.

Protest by Jugo-Slavs.

Third: The allies observe that the project of President Wilson, which comprehends the creation of a buffer state, has been rejected by the Jugo-Slavs, and the allied nations have been unable to insist upon it.

Fourth: The strip of territory necessary to establish the contiguity of Fiume with Italy has not sufficient value to justify procrastination in reestablishing the peace of Europe.

Fifth: Italy entered the war inspired by ideals at a moment at least as critical as that when the United States entered. It suffered sacrifices in blood and money incomparably more serious than those of the United States.

Sixth: The president in threatening to withdraw his signature from the treaty of Versailles, which established the security of France, gravely injures the very new French policy for which he invited protection. He not only destroys the value of his first and most important act, but annihilates it absolutely, since he shows that engagements contracted in accord with this policy can be destroyed lightly.

May Publish Notes.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—It is considered more likely tonight that the supreme council will agree to the publication of President Wilson's Adriatic note and the allied reply, although whether here or at Washington has not yet been decided.

The newspaper press in England, France, and the United States for publication of the documents, in order to suppress erroneous reports and rumors considered harmful, was discussed in the council today, but so far as has been ascertained, a definite decision was not reached.

FOREIGN NEWS — IN BRIEF —

PARIS.—Barthou and Briand join to crush Millerand government, alleging too much leniency to Germany.

HELSINKI.—British grab natural resources of the Baltic coast by secret commercial intrigues with the object of shutting out the Americans.

BERLIN.—German leaders promise early trial of all those against whom evidence of individual war guilt is produced.

NOVOROSSISK.—Kuban Cossacks two years ago started Denikin on road to Moscow. Details show how earlier victories turned to defeat and finally became a rout after the killing of Gen. Kornilov.

NEWS NOTES.

BARCELONA.—Protests are being made against the reported intention to export 40,000 tons of sugar while that commodity is already scarce in Spain.

SANTIAGO, Chile.—Dr. Augusto Durand, Peruvian politician and former candidate for the presidency of Peru, who was exiled, embarked on a steamer on his way to Bolivia.

MADRID.—Reports received here reached between the hydro-airplane service between Bilbao, San Sebastian, Biarritz and Bayonne will begin in April. Passengers will be charged 100 pesetas per trip.

PRAGUE.—Agreement has been reached between the Czech-Slovak government and a syndicate of bankers for the advance of funds necessary for the purchase of 20,000 bales of American cotton each month.

VIENNA.—Negotiations between the Austrian government and a Franco-Dutch syndicate for the sale of the tobacco monopoly of this country have been abandoned. It is said the syndicate was unwilling to meet conditions existing in Austria.

Mexico City, Feb. 19.—As a result of a controversy between the courts of Puebla as to jurisdiction, the case of W. O. Jenkins, United States consular agent in that city, is again before the Supreme court.

Following the arrest of Mr. Jenkins last November on various charges, including aiding rebel forces in that district, it was decided by the Supreme court that the federal court in Puebla had authority to try the case.

Judicial investigation, however, was pushed by Julio Mitchell, state prosecutor of Puebla, in the Criminal court. Press reports regarding the Jenkins investigation in Puebla always mentioned the Puebla Criminal court as the tribunal investigating the case, despite the fact that the Supreme court's ruling determined the jurisdiction of the federal court.

Throughout the proceedings Jenkins has been attempting to secure trial before the federal court.

Planks for G. C. Come to C.

New York, Feb. 19.—The making of a special Republican state convention, which he outlined the platform of the party, which he said would not be a delegate national convention in Chicago.

Mr. Root's friends expected to attend a conference for the election of delegates to the state convention in New York, which was to be held in New York City on March 4, 1921.

Mr. Root's address, which was called to order, was regarded as the campaign. It was an informal conference of distinguished Republicans.

Outlines His Plans.

The most striking feature of Mr. Root's plan was the centralization of power which he has made "more autocratic than the autocracy of the past."

Revision of the constitution amendments to the presidential elections. Reform of the legislature by a congress of all of the members of the legislature elected on March 4, 1921.

Mr. Root brought their feet cheering in the name of the Democratic party, and especially in his name, which he termed the "American party."

When he took up the theme and shouted things the Republicans "to clear a way of business with the public offices of our man in the balcony eye them run again."

Mr. Root immediately said he had to attend to his duties on March 4, 1921.

End War Dictatorship.

More important than the end of the war, Mr. Root said, "is the necessity of restoring our republic to its original form, with its liberties, its rights, its principles, its purpose, and its power."

Mr. Root said that the purpose of his plan was to "clear a way of business with the public offices of our man in the balcony eye them run again."

U. S. WILL FIGHT WRIT STOPPING SALE OF SHIPS

Department of Justice Plans Appeal.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—(Special.)—An appeal will be taken by the department of justice against the injunction forbidding the sale by the shipping board of thirty former German passenger ships.

A temporary writ was granted today by Associate Justice Bailey of the Supreme court of the District of Columbia on the petition of William Randolph Hearst, who sued as a taxpayer.

The judge held that the shipping board would go beyond its legal rights in selling the ships.

Hearing as to whether the writ will be made permanent will be held tomorrow. In addition to fighting such a decision, the department of justice announced tonight it will take the question to a higher court.

Payne Claims Authority. John Barton Payne of Chicago, chairman of the shipping board, said: "The language in the emergency shipping act, giving the board the right to sell all ships of whatever kind, or from whatever source, and the procurement of the president based upon the act leaves the question of our right to sell free from doubt."

Mr. Payne added that "the daily expense of taking care of the vessels as they now lie in the harbor is some $15,000."

He said Hearst should supply a bond to indemnify the government for the time the ships are idle and for any loss that might be suffered by the government, due to the injunction, to dispose of the ships at the best prices obtainable.

An offer of $28,000,000 had been made by the International Mercantile Marine company. This had been regarded as the best offer that might be made at public sale. A public sale was ordered by the shipping board and then came a Senate inquiry and the Hearst suit.

Stevens Fighting Sale. Before the Senate committee on Interstate and foreign commerce today Vice Chairman Stevens of the board said: "Ships are at a premium in the world's markets today and I think this would be the worst possible time to sell."

Mr. Stevens favors refitting the ships and then either operating them or selling them, whichever seems more advantageous.

John D. York, a marine engineer of Chicago, said the International Mercantile Marine has offered only $30 a ton for the former German ships, but paid $160 a ton for British tramp steamers, although the German vessels were "inestimably superior" to the tramp vessels.

TURK CONQUEST BY FRANCE DENIED BY M. MILLERAND

PARIS, Feb. 19.—Premier Millerand today outlined to the foreign affairs commission of the senate the various questions discussed by the supreme council in London, especially with regard to maintenance of the sultan in Constantinople. He explained the position taken by France concerning Syria and Cilicia, which he declared was entirely free from any spirit of conquest.

Parliament Opposes Premier. LONDON, Feb. 19.—The reservations which France and Great Britain are said to have made with regard to the Turkish peace terms have aroused strong feeling in parliament, where the opposition objects to a settlement of the Turkish question without its reference to the commons.

Mr. Lloyd George said today if the house desired a debate on the question before the government was finally committed, every facility would be given. He suggested Monday week, March 1, as the time.

ACCUSED PEORIA BROKER IS ILL. Peoria, Ill., Feb. 19.—(Special.)—Mr. Sawhill is ill and can see no one "that is the reply to all questions. Sawhill is at the home of his friend, Mark Bachelder, 312 Parkside drive. James Sawhill, former president of the Corn Belt Investment company, returned from Chicago at 2 o'clock this afternoon. All inquiries are referred to Clarence Heyl, his attorney.

Assistant State's Attorney Murphy this morning said that the sum involved in Sawhill's fraudulent bond transactions would reach fully $100,000.

A warrant against him charges that he obtained $2,883.50 from County Judge Huey of Monmouth, Ill., to purchase Santa Fe, Illinois Central, and Pullman company stock and appropriated the money to his own use.

Predicts Yankee Doctors Soon Will Be Unionized. Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 19.—Declaration that the "time had come when the medical profession of the United States was forced to unionize to protect its own interests and those of the public" was made here tonight by Dr. Charles A. L. Reed of Cincinnati, formerly president of the American Medical association and of the Pan-American Medical congress, in an address before the Los Angeles County Medical association.

Kills Red Who Cries "To Hell with U. S.," Cleared. Hammond, Ind., Feb. 19.—(Special.)—Facing the electric chair on a charge of murdering Frank Petrich, Frank Pedroni was cleared by a jury in two minutes today because of his intense patriotism.

Pedroni is an Italian of seventeen years' citizenship, while Petrich was an unnaturalized Austrian "Red." The two men argued over Alstro-Italian nationalism charged with disloyalty. Mr. Pedroni denied that the Socialist party intended to promote its program of "legislative action, parliamentary action, and in a peaceful way."

But, he declared, history has shown that "when the privileged minority is desperate and tries to destroy reform and revolutionary movements by force."

"In that case it will be up to the majority of the people to defend their rights against such lawless, powerful, and dangerous minorities, and in a case of this kind it may come to shooting," he concluded.

He was not cleared if it is genuine olive oil. It is imported from the Olive Oil.

A New Front Garden

Here is a typical section of the lake shore development project between Grant and Jackson parks which, when completed, will give Chicago the most magnificent water front of any city in the world. After years of waiting width is to be reclaimed from the lake. Beyond that fringe is to be a lagoon five miles long, and still farther out is to be the outer parkway proper, built right in the lake itself.

The plan will give 1,200 acres of parks along the five mile stretch, a protected watercourse all the way, nine large bathing beaches, picnic grounds, yacht harbor, motor boat courses. The development will be tapped by twelve west side street car lines. The line in the background of the accompanying sketch shows the present shore line. The remainder of the picture shows the projected improvement.

BARTHOLO MARKS MILLERAND FOR SMASH IN PARIS

Briand Joins in Fight Over Leniency to Berlin.

BY FLOYD GIBBONS.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) (By Special Cable.) (Copyright: 1920: By the Tribune Company.) PARIS, Feb. 19.—There are strong indications that the resignation of M. Jonnart, president of the commission on reparations under the treaty of Versailles, threatens the downfall of the Millerand government.

The real cause of M. Jonnart's resignation was fear of opposition to "the too lenient attitude" of the supreme council towards Germany in enforcing the terms of the treaty. This, coupled with a declaration by Andre Lefevre, minister of war, that Germany now has a large army well armed in defiance of the treaty provisions, is to be seized upon by former Premier Barthou in order to bring about the downfall of the Millerand cabinet, according to political wiseacres.

Will Query Government. M. Barthou, who is now president of the foreign affairs commission of the chamber of deputies, and who is looking with covetous eyes again upon the premiership, has announced that he will interpellate the government.

Marcel Cachin, Socialist leader and deputy, writing in Humanite, declared M. Clemenceau in modifying the military terms for the Germans so that they can have a large army to fight the bolsheviks.

The declaration of M. Lefevre that Germany now has 450,000 men under arms, when according to the terms of the treaty she should have only 100,000, together with M. Jonnart's resignation is bound to place the Millerand government in a precarious position when Barthou launches his broadside against the premier in the chamber of deputies.

Briand Joins Attack. "Politicians already say they hear the ground already say they hear the ground," Premier Briand's contingent is galloping towards the Barthou camp for a combined assault on Millerand. They say M. Briand is angling for the French embassy plum at Berlin, and say that he can get it, if M. Barthou wins.

Meanwhile, Millerand is facing the difficult task of finding a strong man for the important job of head of the reparations commission, succeeding M. Jonnart. Millerand offered the job to M. Tardieu, who declined, and it is expected that the next most prominent mentioned possibility is M. Poincare, but it is thought the former president also will turn it down.

BRITISH POCKET BALTIC WEALTH AS WE AID POOR

People Think Our Relief Allied Goat.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) (Copyright: 1920: By the Tribune Company.) HELSINGFORS, Feb. 19, via London, Feb. 19.—Our British cousins are grabbing everything grabbable in the Baltic, and they are milking it down so the Yankees cannot get it. British political and commercial intrigues cobweb the whole eastern shore of this sea, the obvious object being to tie up the whole country for exploitation by the financiers of England.

They have tied up the flax and timber of Latvia and of Estonia and now are turning their attention to Lithuania. Only one American firm is showing interest in this country, and that is the National City bank of New York. It is handicapped because the American missions here refuse to have anything to do with commercial problems.

Goats for London. The only thing of value that the Americans are doing in this whole region is the work of the American Relief association, and the average opinion of the people here is that this association is merely the goat of the British and French.

In Estonia and perhaps in Finland the leaders of the parties and the members of the government believe it is our duty to take care of them, and they accept it not in a spirit of gratitude but in almost a spirit of resentment because we are not doing more.

Looking for the Double Cross. The Baltic people cannot understand our attitude, which refuses to concern itself with commercial aims, and they are constantly seeking a reason back of it.

This does not apply, of course, to the direct beneficiaries of our relief work, but to the larger portion of the people.

"Parsifal" Brings German Opera Back to Stage. New York, Feb. 19.—The first German opera on the Metropolitan house stage since the United States entered the world war was a special matinee of Wagner's "Parsifal," today. It was sung in English, the text having been written by Henry Edward Krehbiel. Arthur Bodansky conducted. Entirely new scenery, by Joseph Urban, marked the production. Orville Harrold sang the title role.

In the cast today were Margaret Matzenauer as Kundry, Adorno Edur as Klingsor, Clarence Whitehill as Amfortas, and Leon Rothier as Gurnemanz.

MYSTERY SHOT KILLS MAN IN BOULEVARD HOME

Woman Mixed Up in Old
Mansion Tragedy.

Fiction's paramount elements—a man, a woman, and a revolver—yesterday invested with a mysterious glamour the old stone mansion at 4409 South Michigan avenue, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. Alphonse Seymour. The man is Ray Newburne. He is dead. The woman is Mrs. Frances Maitland. The story, as the police got it: Frank Taske and Frank O'Malley, living at 4239 South Michigan avenue, ran up to Policeman Lester May of the Fifth street station at 6:20 last night and cried:

"There's trouble. Come with us." May went to the Seymour home. He found Mrs. Maitland hysterical and Newburne in a state of intense excitement. Newburne had a revolver.

"What's the matter?" asked May. "Nothing," said Mrs. Maitland. "It's all right," said Newburne. May left.

Find Man Shot in Head.

At 6:30 o'clock the police station telephone operator received the following:

"A man has just shot himself at 4409 South Michigan avenue." Capt. Michael Lee and Detective Sergeant William Sullivan accompanied the patrol. They found Newburne with a bullet in his right temple, unconscious. He was taken to the Washington Park hospital. He died without making a statement.

Lee and Sullivan sought to question Mrs. Maitland, but she was reticent. The Seymours told the police Newburne committed suicide. A reporter visited them. They declined to talk. Taske and O'Malley were next sought, but could not be found. Detectives were detailed to watch the house.

Victim an Orphan.

About 12:30 this morning they located Taske and O'Malley and brought them with Mrs. Maitland to the station. Mrs. Maitland then consented to talk. She said she had been separated from her husband about a year. Newburne, an orphan, had been brought up by her mother.

When Mrs. Maitland left Lincoln, Neb., after separating from her husband, Newburne and O'Malley, Mrs. Maitland's brother, accompanied her to Chicago. Newburne had long been infatuated with her. He wanted her to marry him. She had steadfastly declined. Last night when he again asked her and she refused, he killed himself, after first threatening her life, she said.

HEROES

Lambert Tree Medal Winner and Men Given "Honorable Mention."

Right, CHARLES BAER.

Lieut. Theodore Luedke was officially declared a hero yesterday and was awarded the Lambert Tree medal for the bravest deed performed by a member of the fire department in 1919.

Fireman Arthur Crapo, engine company 38, and Fireman Charles F. Baer, engine company 6, were awarded honorable mention by the city civil service commission, which listened to fifty stories of bravery before awarding the medal. Commissioner Joseph P. Geary headed the board of award.

Luedke heard the screams of a woman on the second floor of a burning apartment building at 632 Maxwell street at midnight Feb. 27, 1919. The stairway was a mass of flames. Luedke ordered a ladder raised to the building and ascended. He found the woman with a child in her arms, took the baby and started down the ladder, only to find flames bursting from the first floor had cut off his escape. He leaped to the ground, breaking his ankle and saving the child. The mother escaped by jumping into the arms of firemen below.

Baer and Crapo won honorable mention for putting out a fire on the whale-back Christopher Columbus five miles out of Milwaukee last August. There were 1,600 passengers on board when fire was discovered in the hold. It was pointed out, in the award that being off duty, neither Baer nor Crapo were obliged to fight the fire.

The commission is holding daily hearings to determine the bravest policeman of 1919. He will go the Carter H. Harrison bravery medal. Detective Sergeants Harry Miller, William Blaul, and William Stapleton appeared yesterday.

COURT ORDERS 'SONNY' DUNN'S ARREST AS THIEF

Forfeits $4,000 Bonds in Auto Case.

A second capias for the arrest of William Dunn, whose nom de guerre is "Sonny," was issued yesterday when the brother-in-law of the late Maurice ["Mossy"] Enright failed to appear before Judge Joseph Sabath in the criminal court to answer to a charge of larceny. Dunn's $4,000 bond was ordered forfeited.

Deputy sheriffs are also looking for "Sonny" to arrest him on another larceny indictment, stricken from the trial calendar of the Criminal court on Monday and reinstated the following day at the direction of State's Attorney Hoyne. In that case, however, Dunn's bondman, James Connell of 1113 Alhambra avenue was released—automatically.

Other Defendants Missing.

"Sonny," accused by Jack O'Brien, condemned slayer of Detective Sergeant Richard Burke, as the man who actually shot Burke to death, should have presented himself before Judge Sabath with William Jones, James Hughes and Henry Killman, who are alleged to have helped him steal the automobile of Miss Margaret Peacock of 3314 Sheridan road. But none of the principals—not even Miss Peacock—were on hand.

Detective Sergeant Frank Hartigan of the Stockyards station arrested the four men as they were leaving the machine at Forty-eighth and Wood streets Oct. 1, a week after it had been stolen from Michigan boulevard, between Monroe and Madison streets. Hartigan testified in the Municipal court that both Killman and Dunn were armed.

Second Auto Theft Charge.

The other charge against Dunn is the theft of an automobile of the Baldwin Piano company as it stood in front of the firm's showrooms at 323 South Wabash avenue. The machine was abandoned near Downers Grove, when its mechanism failed, but H. R. Andrews of Lamont, Ill., professed to be able to identify Dunn, Edmund Hawley and Fred James as the occupants who appealed to him for assistance.

It was Andrews' failure to appear in court on Monday which caused the case to be stricken off the calendar.

Martial Law Proclaimed
by Allies in Saar Region

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Martial law has been proclaimed in the Saar region now occupied by French troops under control of an allied commission, in consequence of new disturbances, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company. Gen. Wirbel, commanding the French forces, warned the inhabitants not to show themselves at windows of their homes, the dispatch says, as the troops had been instructed to shoot all so doing.

heavy strain? Like a little major, I'll bet.

"I read a little item in yesterday's paper that sure gave me the blues. If Mossy had only lived things would sure be different. I read in today's paper where the driver of the car, Vinc, is squawking on everybody, including Tim Murphy. Did not think Tim would frame on Mossy like that. I am in a funny position. Mossy was my friend and I also know the whole Murphy family. Tim's sister, Nellie, used to write to me while I was at camp. She sure is a fine girl and his mother is as good as they are made. Sure is an awful thing for all concerned, so all I can do is sympathize with both families.

"Well, Jack, all I can say is that 'False' will never have any luck. When a person pulls a stunt like that they always get theirs. Never saw it fail yet. You know, Jack, you have a few friends that will never forget. . . . I'll do as you ask. I'll take care of that little thing. I know you would do the same for me, but here's hoping that we will both be there at the final round. What does McDonnell think?

Those Who Suffer Most.

"How are your mother and father and the rest of the family, Jack? They are the ones who suffer most when things go wrong. They sure have had their share of trouble and sickness."

John Neville, now serving a sentence in Joliet penitentiary on a robbery charge, during the day also professed knowledge of the O'Brien affair. He declared he knew of the existence of a conspiracy between "Mossy" Enright and certain "higher-ups" to get a short term or clemency for the youthful slayer.

"Do you know who killed Detective Sergeant Burke?" he was asked.

"By words I heard I think I do," was the answer. Who the "real" slayer was he refused to state.

Brother Hints Revenge.

"Good-by, mother, don't worry about me!" were O'Brien's last words to his mother, who has been working constantly for him since his arrest.

His two brothers, William and Martin, facing charges of larceny, then visited him for ten minutes. Below, in the jail proper, Carpenter James had just finished erecting the gallows, after which the trap was sprung and a 200 pound bag of sand dropped through to test the rope.

"Don't lose your nerve, Jack—die game," said William. "Don't worry about that fellow who should be in your place. I'll get out of jail some time and square accounts."

At 2 o'clock this morning William Colvin of the parole board declared no new action had been taken and scouted the possibility of anything interfering with O'Brien's execution.

Boys' Right Posture suits and overcoats sharply reduced

If your boy has tested out Right Posture clothes style and wear—and if you have been cheered by your boy's straighter carriage owed to the Right Posture feature in the clothes—you both will be glad to profit by the reductions in a clearance of this winter's styles—particularly with two months of cold weather still to come, and sharp advances in all clothing prices predicted for next autumn.

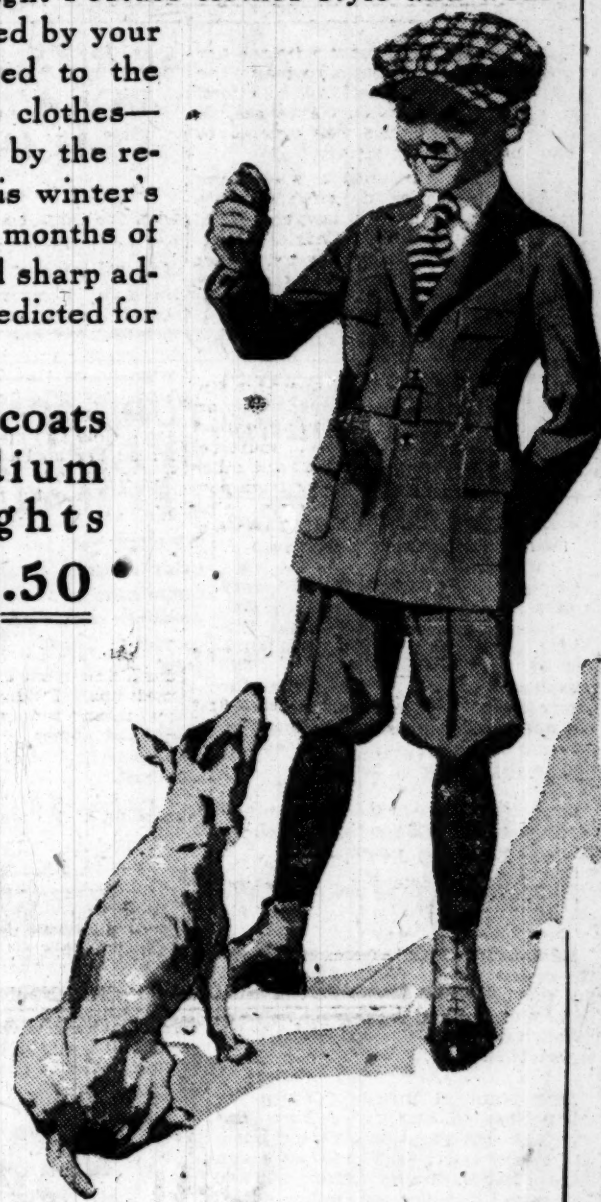

Right Posture overcoats and suits in medium and light weights reduced to 22.50

This low clearance price is certain to popularize Right Posture clothes with a broader circle of customers, who later will recognize that these suits and coats survive for months the severe usage given by active boys. Suits for boys of 7 to 17; coats for boys of 3 to 8.

The Right Posture feature is unique

—continually, almost imperceptibly but quite effectually, reminding the boy to stand erect. Moreover, Right Posture clothes have taped and serged seams that will not rip; bar tacked pockets; extra strength at points of wear; superior style; perfect fit; distinctive and durable fabrics.

FLORIDA COAST MAKING A PIKER OF CAPT. KIDD

Liquor Smuggling on Vast Scale in Progress.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 19.—[Special.]—Miami is agog today with tales of smuggling that bring memories of the old days when pirates infested the West Indies a century ago, ran the coast of revenue officers and brought rich cargoes into Florida.

In every club, hotel, restaurant, and cafe people are discussing thrilling stories of how Capt. K— or Skipper — slipped through the net of revenue cutters and landed with a rich cargo. And as these people talk they drink.

They drink cargoes that have been smuggled past the federal authorities. The prohibition amendment didn't stop the sale of liquor in Florida; it merely boosted the price.

It is not difficult to secure a drink of whiskey in Florida. It cannot be said that the stuff is sold openly, but a pleasant assurance that you are "all right" and a dollar bill will bring a highball in almost any restaurant.

Civil and state authorities are not "sensitive" to the smuggling. They agree with the people that the nation should be wet and make no great effort to arrest the booze pirates.

Sheriff a Wet Sympathizer.

In one county the sheriff is supposed to be in league with the liquor runners. It is said that this sheriff went out with some revenue agents, made an arrest, and left the liquor in charge of a colored man while the smugglers were being arrested. When they returned the colored man and the liquor had disappeared.

"Florida didn't vote to make this nation dry," said one official when asked about the situation.

So all the smugglers have to face is an agent staff of government officers.

These revenue officers have more than 800 miles of coast to cover and it is said that almost every one of the thousands of islands in the West Indies group is a cache for liquor. From the Thousand Islands on the west coast of Florida to the Andros Islands off Cuba there are little pieces of land that are used as headquarters by the smugglers.

In Columbus' Footsteps.

On Bemini says, in Nassau, in the Bahamas Islands, even on San Salvador, where Columbus first landed, there is a whiskey. It is purchased from the states, shipped out, and then smuggled back.

Last week in Nassau seven ships came to port with cargoes of whiskey. Loaded whiskey from Kentucky and Florida. The cargoes are removed and the whiskey disappears. Any vessel that can travel through the Gulf stream is used by the smugglers.

Sometimes the liquor is brought close to the three mile limit and then anchored to a buoy to be picked up by fishermen later.

Outside Miami there is a series of buoys marking the channel. A party of revenue officers went out to change the markers. Deep in the water, attached to the buoys, they discovered a cache of whiskey.

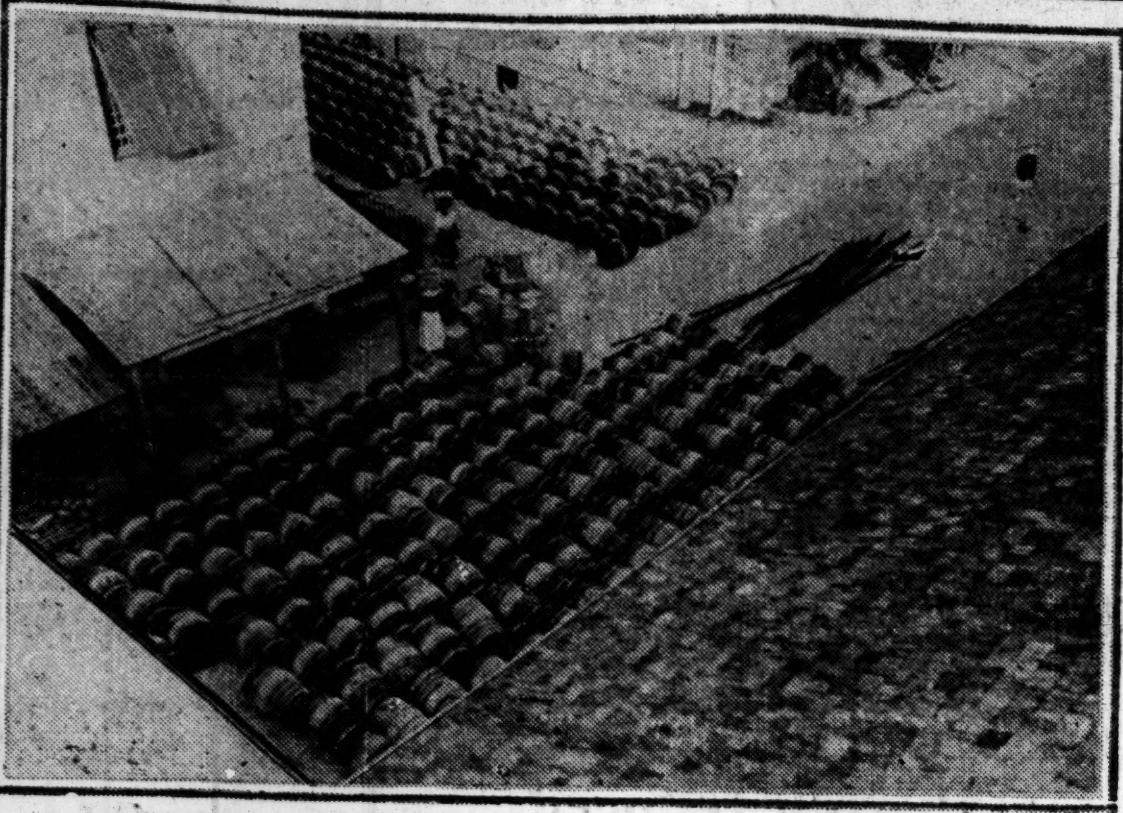

A New Ponce de Leon?

In Bemini a sporting club has been organized. It is called the Bemini Rod and Gun club by some, but more often referred to as the "Forty Rod and Gun club." It takes forty minutes to reach Bemini from Miami. Small steamers are chartered daily for the trip. It was in Bemini that Ponce de Leon "discovered" his fountain of youth. The fountain is still flowing.

Whisky can be purchased in Nassau for 11 shillings a quart. In Miami a quart of the stuff can be purchased for 15. The country clubs, the cafes, the hotels all sell it.

The Exiles

John Barleycorn and His Family Arrive at Nassau to Escape the Chill of Prohibition in Their Old Home, the United States.

So much whiskey has been shipped from the United States to the Bahamas that all warehouses at Nassau are filled and the barrels of liquor are stored in the streets.

WIFE WINS $800 A MONTH FROM HERBERT CRANE

Pawned Jewels to Live,
She Says in Suit.

Aurora, Ill., Feb. 19.—[Special.]—Mrs. Elida Piza Crane, the young Coasta Rican wife of Herbert Crane, one of the large stockholders in the Crane company, Chicago, was awarded $800 a month temporary alimony by Judge Maxwell Slusser in the Kane county Circuit court at Geneva today.

The maintenance award is the largest ever made a wife in Kane county. Mrs. Crane's bill asserted her husband's income is $50,000 a year, but she has had to pawn her jewels to obtain the necessities of life for herself and her baby boy, Mr. Crane's son.

The jewels, one of Mrs. Crane's lawyers, D. Harvey Gungul of Aurora, said, were heirlooms and gifts from Mrs. Crane's people.

Rides in Farm Wagon. Adding to Mrs. Crane's story, residents of St. Charles, almost next door to the Wild Rose farm to which Mr. Crane brought his bride from the tropics after winning her from a field of suitors, says that Mrs. Crane has had no other means to reach town for months except a farm wagon.

Mr. Crane was not in court today. In fact, process servers have been unable to find him since last spring, when his wife sued for separate maintenance. He has been reported at Honolulu, New York, Chicago, and Palm Beach. Since he has been in hiding his wife has accused him of being unfaithful. She said the women involved were in Chicago, but she did not know their names.

In her first bill Mrs. Crane said her husband had divided their home at the Wild Rose farm into locked and barred apartments, one of which he gave her. The other he took himself and denied her admittance. He was cruel and threatening, she said.

$1,700 Additional Payments.

Besides awarding Mrs. Crane the $800 a month temporary alimony and

SPIRITS, OUIJA, AND ALCOHOLIC STAR IN DIVORCE

"Spirits" in various forms, together with the Ouija board, interfered largely with the harmony of John S. Mayne's home at 910 Belmont avenue, he says. Previous to July 1 Mayne was a "drumshop keeper." Lately, he asserts, there has been a lack of spirits in keeping with his business, but another kind has been substituted by Mrs. Mayne through the Ouija board.

Mrs. Mayne filed a bill for divorce some time ago charging cruelty. Yesterday her husband filed an answer in which he tells of the havoc wrought in his home by the Ouija board and spiritualism. He denies the charge of cruelty.

Mrs. Mayne was convinced, according to the bill, that she could talk with the dead; that she was no longer Mrs. Mayne, but a spirit guided by a little Indian girl named Rose Bud. She refused to see her husband, lived in the dark, and spent all of her money with mediums. Finally she was adjudged insane and sent to Kankakee, but was released when she showed improvement.

Shortly afterward she began to suffer from the same hallucinations, according to Mayne, and in addition imagined the things charged against him in her bill for divorce.

EXPERT URGES UNIVERSAL DRILL TO AID EDUCATION

Value Cited Before Vocational Session.

Members of the National Society for Vocational Education and the Vocational Education Association of the Middle West were urged last night at a joint banquet at the Hotel La Salle to come out in favor of universal military training. The speaker was C. R. Mann, chairman of the advisory board of the war plans division, and formerly professor of physics at the University of Chicago.

"Many Americans still feel that there is something about military training that leads to militarism," said Mr. Mann. "There are no grounds whatever for that feeling. Such a fear is a relic of prewar days. The army has lost all possibility of becoming militaristic by the experience of the war."

Experiments in Schools.

"There have been numerous experiments with military training in the schools. Although such training is useful, it does not get the best results. It is essential that the experiment be carried on in large numbers, where the men live in a camp under military régime.

"A universal training system does not mean simply training in military technique. There is a distinct recognition of vocational training in any system of universal training. We are supporting the universal training measure not because we want a large army, but because we want an army that will fight when the need arises. I hope this association will take up the support of the measure now in congress, as the opposition is well organized."

Soldiers Win Education.

Col. R. L. Rees, chief of the education and recreation branch of the war department, and C. R. Mayo, in charge of the welfare work in the navy, were among the speakers. Col. Rees said that at present there are 93,000 men in the army taking vocational education and that within a year there will probably be 200,000.

The sessions of the vocational education teachers will continue today and tomorrow.

BIG PAYMENTS MENTIONED AT NEWBERRY TRIAL

Many Workers Admit They "Never Got a Cent."

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 19.—Whether Milton Oakman, Detroit political leader, was "kidding" or "serious" when he told Chase S. Osborn's Detroit campaign manager that the Newberry committee promised him $25,000 for his support of the junior Michigan senator was a moot question after today's testimony in the Newberry election conspiracy trial.

The Osborn man, Henry A. Montgomery, said he knew "Oakman's reputation as a 'kiddie,'" but "took it seriously enough to report it to Mr. Osborn," and there the matter stood. The defense did, however, get Montgomery to emphasize that Oakman told him he never got a dollar.

There was other testimony today indicating that not all the Newberry workers got money for their pains. The grand jury evidence of Louis Burr, Houghton lumberman, was read from notes, and it related that Paul King complimented Burr on his work and promised he would be reimbursed for time and expense connected with numerous trips about the copper country. Burr added he never saw the money.

Willard C. Smith of Grand Rapids swore that Charles B. Carpenter, a hawker defendant, gave him some Newberry buttons and $10 and told him to "Get busy; there is more in sight."

Later, Carpenter, learning that Smith had received "that money," promised to "see that it was fixed up," but Smith said he got nothing more.

Hear of $30,000 Payment. Grand jury testimony by De Witt Brown brought a $30,000 item to the attention of the jury. He was quoted by Claire Higgins, clerk of the grand jury, as saying that John B. Harris told him that Roger Andrews, Menominee publisher, had received that amount from the Newberry committee for work in the upper peninsula. Judge Sessions instructed the jury that this gossip could be used only as affecting Brown's knowledge or belief that money was being used. He told them to disregard it as against Harris and Andrews.

Witnesses came and went so rapidly that the government ran out of testi-

HE TALKED OF SISSIE IN SLEEP, WIFE SAYS, BUT COURT IS DEAF

An old adage relates the danger of talking in one's sleep, but such talk isn't dangerous when repeated in a courtroom. Judge Rush yesterday so ruled in the divorce suit of Mrs. Annie E. Vallas against her husband, William Henry Vallas, president of the Vallas Sheet Metal works.

Mrs. Vallas related hearing her husband breathe "Sissie" in his sleep, and in endearing words of an intimate nature refer to Mrs. Earl Knecht, his young stenographer. Vallas is 50 years old. Mrs. Knecht also was alleged to have influenced her employer in certain business transactions.

Mrs. Vallas stated she had caused the discharge of Mrs. Knecht once, but that the girl had later been reemployed. Mrs. Knecht denied all intimacy with her elderly employer. The nickname "Sissie," she explained, was used by all her friends. Judge Rush continued the case until this morning.

mony and forced an adjournment half an hour ahead of the usual time. The government centered its afternoon efforts largely on Frank McKay of Grand Rapids. Practically all of the testimony offered against him referred to work done in the general elections from the headquarters of the county Republican committee, of which McKay was secretary.

Chicago Boys Eligible for West Point Examinations

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—[Special.]—The war department tonight issued the following list of Chicagoans who are eligible for the military academy entrance examination to be held beginning on the third Tuesday in March, with a view to admission in June, 1920:

Third district—Milton B. Simpson, first alternate, 6311 Euclid avenue; Arthur H. Grosskopf, second alternate, 7304 Sangamon street; Carl R. Canfield, 6434 Loomis boulevard. Ninth district—Harry C. Chamberlain, second alternate, 3741 Clifton avenue; Richard Reynolds, 2328 Cleveland avenue, and Theodore Schrader, first alternate, 644 Melrose street.

SHERMAN ATTACK ON FORD ROUSES DEMOCRATS' IRE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—[Special.]—Senator Sherman of Illinois continued in the senate today to criticize Henry Ford with such vehemence as to bring protests and charges of a breach of senatorial proprieties from the Democratic side.

Senator Wolcott of Delaware and Senator Stanley of Kentucky, Democrats, united in asserting that Senator Sherman was trying to influence the jury which is trying Senator Truman H. Newberry. "Is it possible," asked Senator Stanley, "that the franking privileges of the senate are to be used to snatch an accused man from justice?"

Senator Wolcott interpreted Senator Sherman's remarks as a threat to force the Republicans to stand together and support Senator Newberry or lose control of the senate. He declared Senator Sherman had said to his Republican colleagues in substance: "Unless you save Newberry I'll vote with the Democrats."

The Delaware senator insisted it was plain that Senator Sherman was "speaking to the jury in the Newberry case."

2,000 TEACHERS REOPEN BATTLE FOR MORE PAY

Miss Mortenson's Name;
Draft New Protest.

Nearly 2,000 Chicago teachers fired their first gun yesterday in their fight to compel the board of education to grant their salary demands and adjust inequities in the new salary schedule.

Hundreds of teachers were turned away from the Olympic theater, where the mass meeting was held.

The principal action taken was a protest against the size of the recent increase and the manner in which it was framed. The protest will be presented to the board by the Chicago teachers' federation, under whose auspices the meeting was held.

Vote Campaign Fund.

Just before the meeting closed the teachers voted to subject themselves to an assessment to be fixed by the federation officers to carry on the fight.

It is planned to take the campaign to the moving picture theaters, where complaints of the teachers will be shown on the screen. The screen also will be used in an attempt to increase the tax valuations of the public utilities. Miss Margaret Haley, business representative of the federation, said there was a discrepancy of $282,000,000 in the rate fixing valuations of four public service corporations as compared with the valuations for taxing purposes.

Miss Haley would fix how much money is to be raised, but 5,134 teachers have agreed to support any action the federation officers take.

His Mortenson's Name.

If Supt. Peter A. Mortenson had been present at the meeting he would have noticed a change in sentiment that shown a few months ago, at meetings addressed by himself and Supt. Charles Chadsey. At that time Mr. Mortenson was received as hero and Mr. Chadsey's reception as cool. But yesterday Mr. Mortenson's name was hissed.

Mr. Mortenson proposed that teachers be allowed to present three promotional credits in one year instead of five in the past. It is necessary to have five such credits to pass from the lower to the upper group of salaries.

"Heaven help the children," gasped Miss Haley after she had read the protest.

The objections which will be presented to the board follow:

"Five hundred dollars in the headlines and from $200 to $400 in the teachers' pockets."

Shortening of the time to reach maximum salary does not affect present teachers.

Shortening of the lower group to four years.

Making January the only month in which automatic increases may be granted.

Mrs. Georgiana Hewitt, pretty little star, playing the part of the bride in "Betty Be Good" at the Princess theater, will appear in court either today or Saturday to seek an annulment of her marriage to Fred Manatt, movie actor, playing with Alice Brady.

Mrs. Hewitt was divorced some time ago from her first husband, according to Attorney Benjamin F. Ehrlich. Not being familiar with the law regarding second marriages, she entered into a second contract with Manatt before the required year had passed.

Briefly testifying that her husband had deserted her in January, 1916, Mrs. Delilah Lietzel Foster, otherwise De Lyle Alda, co-star of Ziegfeld's "Follies," was practically promised a decree of divorce yesterday by Judge McDonald.

these objections, the teachers wish a salary schedule of from $1,200 to $2,250 for all grammar school teachers and the maximum raised to $2,500 in 1923.

The teachers voted to ask Mayor Thompson to use his influence on the board. They approved the action of the federation in demanding that Gov. Lowden compel the public utilities commission and the state tax commission to agree on valuations for public service corporations.

DOWNSTATER AT 'CON CON' FIRES! CHICAGO TARGET

Aims at Union of Local Governments.

PROGRESS!

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 19.—[Special.]—Delegate Jarmin of Rushville, at the constitutional convention, has reckoned that up to this week the convention has been in session forty-one days and has spent thirty-four hours and twelve minutes in convention meetings. Going back to the 1870 convention, which met Dec. 13 and then adjourned fourteen days for Christmas, Mr. Jarmin reckons that that convention in its first forty-one days had received all of its proposals, made its committee reports, and was considering what it would place in the constitution.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 19.—[Special.]—The delegate from Mascoutah proposed to the convention today that the new Illinois constitution shall contain provisions which will seriously hinder, if not actually block, the consolidation of local governments in Chicago.

Mascoutah is near Belleville, and its interest—if it has any—in preventing Chicago from saving an estimated $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 annually by consolidation has not come to the surface.

Here Is Downstater's Plan.

But its representative in the convention, Herbert F. Lill, asked today that the new basic law shall contain this provision:

"No new county shall be formed or established by the general assembly which will reduce the county or counties, or either of them, from which it shall be taken to less contents than 400 square miles, nor shall any county be formed of less contents." In the proposal there is no suggestion that this shall not apply to Cook county. It has 993 square miles. If Chicago alone is made into a county it would have a trifle more than 200 square miles. If a county is made out of the territory within the sanitary district it probably would not have 400 square miles.

The exact area is not at hand. If the remainder of Cook county is made into more than one county there would not be enough territory to give each county 400 square miles.

Opposed to Consolidation.
The county board of Cook county has Commissioner McKinley every week at the convention. He is busy and he is opposed to consolidating Cook county with other local governments. The convention adjourned until next Wednesday to give Chicagoans a chance to vote.

TO THE AMERICAN LEGION.

The American Legion is developing its political influence specifically in two directions. One is for payments from the national treasury to men who served. The other is for universal military training.

A man who served and who is deprived of ability to support himself because of his service ought to be repaid by the government. A man who finds his ability impaired, by the loss of hand or foot or by other permanent injury, ought to be compensated. If it were possible the compensation ought to reimburse him equitably for what he has lost in life. This is as little as the nation served could do.

Men who served and who are back in civil life with no other injury than the loss of time might look at the question in another light. They gave up much that was valuable to them. They risked danger and they suffered hardships, but they are back, and their ability to support themselves and continue in life is not vitally disturbed.

Some of them lost advances. They lost opportunities by being taken away from civil life. But they have a consciousness of service which is invaluable. They had experiences and they have memories and not the least important asset in life is the memory of a real service well done.

The Legion backs universal military service. One of, if not the chief, of congressional arguments against this needed military policy is that it is too expensive. The nation cannot afford it. This argument is false, but it makes an impression.

Congressmen say that the nation will not need to train an army for the next ten years because for that period it will have ex-service men who can be relied upon in time of danger. That is the nation, seeking to save money, relies upon the A. E. F. to come to the front again.

We think that the men of the A. E. F. have done enough for their generation. The prospects which congress wishes to make their prospects should lie in the future, if they lie anywhere, of the younger men of the nation.

If the United States would train its 19 year old youth, there would be no talk of sending the veterans back into the ranks. The nation actually will think that there is a moral obligation upon these men who have served once to serve again. It does not, seemingly, think that there is a moral obligation upon itself to strengthen its defense nationally.

The two objects of the American Legion conflict with each other. If the veterans press congress for money payments regardless of inability for injury, they may get their recompense, but they will increase the national expenditures to such an extent that the economy plan will completely defeat any hope of putting younger men in training.

We shall be paying extraordinarily for a war which has been fought, and laying out nothing to prevent another one from being fought. The amount which each able bodied veteran would get under even a generous scheme of compensation would not do him a great deal of good. It will not do him half as much good as his own consciousness of service bravely and uncomplainingly performed.

There is no theoretical inequity in what the legion asks of congress. There may be a relative expediency. That is for the able bodied A. E. F. men to consider.

FOR A JUST ZONING PROGRAM.

There ought to be general satisfaction in the news that the Chicago zone commission is to embrace men of the type of Charles H. Wacker.

Zoning can be carried out in a manner to establish Chicago forever as a city of good homes, of established values, clean streets, health, and industrial efficiency. On the other hand, zoning can be turned to the advantage of real estate trickery, political intrigue, and industrial inefficiency. The guaranty lies in the competence of the commissioners.

Mr. Wacker and the men associated with him in the Chicago plan commission have demonstrated their ability to deal with big municipal problems. The zone commission ought to be of like caliber.

THE OPEN SEASON FOR YANKS.

Mexicans have begged another Yankee and have been holding him for $50,000 pesos ransom. Our unfortunate fellow citizen's name is Adams. Wilson Welsh Adams, and they got him in Zacatecas. A report reached his wife yesterday that he had been released, but the case remains interesting. The open season for Yankees has over a year to run. It will close March 4, 1921. Until then the sport probably will be good and profitable.

There may be conceivable circumstances which would find Mr. Wilson in office after 12 o'clock noon, March 4, 1921, but they are beyond our conception. We think it is so extraordinarily unlikely that it can be regarded as impossible.

It is conceivable that another president would continue Mr. Wilson's Mexican policy, but that also we regard as so unlikely as to be virtually impossible. This policy is peculiarly Mr. Wilson's own and we do not believe that any one else will take much pride in it or waste much effort in trying to carry it out. Mr. Lansing called it "supine" and people on the border call it intolerable.

Americans do not seem to get it through their heads that their own country outlaws them in Mexico. Consequently they continue to enter that country and expose themselves to the Mexican pot hunters. As the Mexicans realize that the season is about to close on them they probably will intensify their efforts.

BRUTALIZING MURDERERS.

Mr. Hyne has called the sheriff's attention to the statute prescribing the method of inflicting the death penalty. The law defines the number and character of the witnesses. There is nothing else to be said if the statute is clear and well defined. The law should be obeyed.

The law should be respected because it is the law. But the law should not be quoted as a mantle of charity for thieves and killers who respect no law. The theory of penalty is that it shall be swift and certain. It is the certainty, the implacability, the relentlessness of justice which gives law its vitality.

Law in Chicago has been lax and flaccid. Penalty has been lame and stammering. Silent and inexorable penalty, which is the spirit of law, has given way to technical vacillation and disputable negation. "We must not brutalize our criminals" has become the slogan of those who should be saying, "We must protect decent men, women, and children from criminals who already are brutalized."

Some of our club women protest against this "brutalization." It seems to us they lay the emphasis in the wrong place. We have no sympathy for brute criminals. Our sympathy is with the victims of brute.

PUBLIC RIGHT IN ESSENTIAL INDUSTRY.

The railroad brotherhoods are against the prohibition of strikes.

They are now opposed to provisions for public arbitration of differences.

That is, they are for fighting out their demands regardless of the public.

Can we draw any other conclusion? The provision of the Cummins bill to make strikes on railroads unlawful has been dropped. The brotherhoods were so much opposed to it that threats were heard that a general strike would be called if congress passed the Cummins provision. Yet now that it has been given up and alternative provisions made for public adjudication before a tribunal composed of representatives of the employees, management, and the public, the brotherhoods still oppose.

Does organized labor on the railroads recognize that the public has any right to protection or representation in disputes? Do the brotherhoods insist that whatever differences arise between employees and employers must be negotiated or fought out without reference to the public's interest or safety?

We hope a more reasonable and public spirited conception of the relations of railroad service to the public will prevail. But if it does not, we see no way out of a decisive struggle between the public and the brotherhoods on this issue. The strike is not a legitimate method of adjustment in an industry the continuous operation of which is essential not merely to the public prosperity but to public health and even life. It ought to be declared unlawful. But if for the sake of the susceptibilities and fears of organized labor, it is not explicitly outlawed, there should be no failure to provide a method of arbitration which shall include representation of the public and which shall gather to itself such moral support of public opinion that the strike need not and will not be inflicted upon the country.

The American people have a right to create adequate self-protection from the disaster of industrial warfare in essential industry. Organized labor cannot afford to put itself in the position of denying that right.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE HAVE A RIGHT TO CREATE ADEQUATE SELF-PROTECTION FROM THE DISASTER OF INDUSTRIAL WARFARE IN ESSENTIAL INDUSTRY. ORGANIZED LABOR CANNOT AFFORD TO PUT ITSELF IN THE POSITION OF DENYING THAT RIGHT.

IMMIGRATION.

Reports on immigration show a slight increase over 1918, suggesting that the tide has turned back to our shores, though as yet very weakly.

In the ten years previous to 1914 immigration averaged a million a year. Year before last showed a net immigration of 18,000, last year 20,000.

The real significance of the present situation lies, however, in the character or source of immigration. Except for a 24,000 net gain from Mexico, the largest gains are from northern Europe, England showing 30,000 net gain, France 20,000, Scotland 13,000, and Ireland 8,000.

South Italy, on the other hand, shows a decrease of 68,000.

Economically the present drift is unfavorable, as 18,000 laborers entered, while 74,000 departed. However, if the present proportions are retained, the political gain will be considerable, since the increases are from countries allied to us in race, custom, and law. Assimilation of immigrants from northern European countries is easier and speedier, and this is a consideration we are not now in a mood to overlook.

On the other hand, the labor shortage is producing serious consequences and constitutes the chief factor in our problem of reconstruction. At the moment relief does not appear to be near.

Editorial of the Day

THE PRESIDENT'S MALADY.

[From the Herald, Uniontown, Pa.]

Whatever the nature of Mr. Wilson's bodily illness, his most acute malady is "ego-titis," with all its unfortunate complications. He was suffering from this malady in an aggravated form long before paralysis came. He is still suffering from it and because of it the whole country has suffered, is suffering, and will continue to suffer. Because of it, to no small degree, the world at large is in the throes of unrest and uncertainty, for it was Mr. Wilson who would have his way in Paris that the league of nations covenant be so intertwined in the peace treaty—which should have been a document separate in itself and made effective a few months after the signing of the armistice—that American senators would not dare to dot an "i" or cross a "t." And behind the state of affairs today? Technically the United States is still at war with Germany, the league of nations is a league in name only, the spirit of unrest and discontent is abroad to the great delight of the bolshevik. The would-be world peace makers have fallen from the popular pedestal, one by one. Clemenceau has retired, Lloyd George has retired, and the hand-writing on the wall. The real malady of Mr. Wilson is now generally understood. His will cannot be separate no opposition, no interference. The malady is incurable. It has cost the victim the deep affection of the American people. It has cost Mr. Wilson an exalted position in world history. It has cost the American people humiliation of national spirit and derangement of business activity and incentive. The man who would have had an enviable position in the world's history but for his stubborn autocracy and egotistical perversity seems determined to ruin all if he cannot rule all. It's the nature of the malady. And a sad spectacle it all is!

A LINE OF TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

TO THE LEAGUE OF WOMAN VOTERS.

We, the young dead who threw our lives away for you without complaining. Cry with our lips, since cold. When you've seen a foeman! In fierce arraignment—

Women, why will ye make So soon the old mistake, Dream the old dreaming? When you've seen a foeman! Arm them! Prepare them for war, and there'll be no war! See clear, O Women.

ANCHUSA.

WOMEN take a sentimental view of military preparedness and the league of nations, in which respect they are startlingly like men. "We learn from experience that we learn nothing from experience." Or, as Ben Franklin observed, "Experience keeps a dear school, but fools will learn in no other, and scarcely in that."

WE PREFER XYLOPHONE. Sir: How do you and Mr. Granger pronounce xylophone? Webster and other high-brows seem to prefer "z(e)ylophone," and most of the performers call it "zillophone," but I have oodles of orders for an "xylophone," which I presume means "an ex-splendide." G. C. G.

THERE is a difference of opinion as to whether a fur coat is injured by sitting on it. We are inclined to agree with those who maintain that the practice will eventually wear out the coat. We know it works that way with trousers, but we know of no polite way to obviate it.

THE DIRECTORS ARE STILL IN SESSION.

[From the Tucson Citizen.]

Negotiations between the Old Dominion company and the Arizona Commercial Mining company are still in the bibulous state, according to the Boston News Bureau.

WRITING as a converted pacifist, Secretary Baker advises a Kansas lady that "we cannot escape danger by following the example of that foolish bird of the African desert," alluding, as you guess, to the ostrich. Nevertheless, and, for that matter, notwithstanding, we shall follow the bird's example. The ostrich should be recognized as the national fowl, not only because of the habit of hiding its head in the sand, but because of its digestive powers. The United States is expected to digest the ignorant hordes that come here from Russia and elsewhere. It is a favorite argument against deportation.

HE MAY HAVE MOVED A BIT.

Sir: In my study I hang an ancient wood engraving. Katie Africana looked it over critically. "Who is that?" she asked. "That is Isaac Newton." "Well, he takes a mighty poor picture."

MR. COOTE, M. P., declares that Ireland's troubles are due to religion. Very likely. But we should say "religions."

REASSURING.

Sir: If there is anyone who harbors a suspicion that the income tax money he is reluctantly parting with is being squandered by the government, put his mind at ease by handing him a copy of the 84-page document issued by the Comptroller of the Currency (which he mailed to all the bankers in the country at government expense), in which he pays his respects to his enemies who are blocking the confirmation of his reappointment. LINES WRITTEN IN GALLIUM.

(Patrick Shaw-Stewart—killed in France.)

I saw a man this morning Who did not wish to die. I ask and cannot answer If otherwise would I.

Fair broke the day this morning Against the Dardanelles, The breeze blew soft, the morn's cheeks Were cold as cold sea shells.

But other shells are waiting Across the straits an ancient wall, Shrapnel and high explosive, Shells and hells for me.

O hell of ships and cities, Through the eddies of the sea, First second Helen, Why must I follow thee?

Achilles came to Troyland, And I to Chersonese; He turned from wrath to battle, And I from three days' peace.

Was it so hard, Achilles, So very hard to die? Thou knowest and I know not, So much the happier I.

I will go back this morning From Imbros over the sea, Stand in the trench, Achilles, Flame-capped, and shout for me.

How to Keep Well.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit, or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations, and where a stamped, addressed envelope is inclosed, Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases. ADVANTAGES OF HOSPITAL.

CAN a community rid itself of all danger from contagion by building a contagious disease hospital? The answer is no. Can a community greatly lower its contagious disease rate by maintaining a contagious disease hospital? Again the answer is no. Then why have one? The answer to all three of these questions is furnished by Dr. D. L. Richardson of the Providence City Hospital, and not one in the country is regarded as a better authority on contagious disease control.

He says every community should have a contagious disease hospital even though the answer to the first two questions is no. Such a hospital is needed to care for people living in hotels, boarding houses and tenements. The death rate is lowered by the operation of such a hospital. The severe cases can be better cared for. Severe epidemics are prevented.

If there is a large foreign language population a contagious disease hospital is a necessity. Among this section of the population a red contagious disease warning card serves to advertise the illness in the household and to decrease the number of visitors.

Where there is contagion in the household of a milkman or grocer it is highly advantageous that the sick person be taken to a contagious disease hospital. Hospitalization is of very great service in the early stages of an epidemic. After the community has been saturated with a given form of contagion, the advantage of having a contagious disease hospital is about limited to the better care which certain sick will get and the better protection of certain businesses.

Dr. Richardson has no hesitation in advocating contagious disease hospitals, even though they cannot do all that was claimed for them.

Some communities require that every case of smallpox be taken care of in a contagious disease hospital. For instance, there has been the Chicago policy for more than twenty years. No one questions the fact that Chicago is a great railroad center and that smallpox comes in almost every week the disease has never spread.

A limited amount of vaccination plus complete hospitalization keeps the disease under control. But no other disease is on the same basis as smallpox. A mistake in diagnosis of smallpox is rare. Mistakes in diagnosis of other forms of contagion are frequent. Other forms of contagion are spread in great measure by the liberal and free use of the milk can. A smallpox hospital is more effective in protecting a community than an ordinary contagious disease hospital.

ONLY PART OF CURE.

H. J. M. writes: "I would like to know what foods you would consider most nourishing for a person with lung trouble. I am taking one tablespoonful of olive oil every morning before breakfast. Is that good? I have had a pain in my shoulder blade ever since I had the flu. When do you think this pain will leave?"

REPLY: If by lung trouble you mean consumption eat cereals, fruits, and a moderate allowance of good meat, bread, vegetables, and fruit. A tablespoonful of olive oil a day is all right if it does not cause nausea. Do not put so much dependence on the food cure that you neglect rest, open air, and mental calm. I have no idea when your pain will stop. The flu does not leave much after effect.

WEAK HEART AND DANCING. L. F. writes: "Is it all right for a person having a leaking heart valve to dance? I have heard that, if found in a person before he or she reaches the age of 50, this defect is curable. Is this true? 3. What is mitral insufficiency?"

REPLY: Yes. Under proper limitations dancing is allowable. It may even be helpful if compensation is good and dancing is not excessive or furious.

A leaking valve is not curable in the sense that the crippled valve can be repaired. Compensation can be built up and maintained for a lifetime.

In mitral insufficiency the mitral valve does not completely close the opening between the two great chambers of the left heart.

TAKE EXERCISE, EAT, AND SLEEP.

L. G. K. writes: "1. How tall should a boy of 16 be and what should he weigh? 2. I have heard that, if found in a person before he or she reaches the age of 50, this defect is curable. Is this true? 3. What is mitral insufficiency?"

REPLY: 1. Boys of 16 vary in height from fifty-six to seventy inches and in weight from ninety to 150 pounds, according to race and family stock.

2. Nine hours. Become interested in some form of sport, say at least go out walking or indoor sport. Boxing and wrestling are excellent.

3. You can safely trust your instinct to guide you in eating. A banana a day will be good for you. Do not swallow banana unchewed.

CARBONIC ACID BATHS.

W. C. writes: "Will you please inform me how to prepare a carbonic acid bath, the ingredients, quantity, and where obtainable?"

REPLY: Dissolve three to ten pounds of common salt and ten ounces of pure calcium chloride in forty gallons of water at about 85 degrees C. Charge the water with carbonic acid. You can buy the common salt in the grocery store, the calcium chloride in the drug store, and a tube of carbonic acid in the hardware store. It is necessary you can make carbonic acid from bicarbonate of soda and muriatic acid. I suggest that you go to the hardware store and buy a Naubel or Schott method. There is a good deal more to the Naubel method than merely dissolving the ingredients in water.

DEPENDENTS OF JAN. 31.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Will you please advise me in the following questions regarding my income tax exemptions:

1. During 1919, for nine months up to Nov. 3, my mother-in-law lived at my home and was entirely dependent on me. Am I not entitled to $200 exemption on this account?

2. During 1919 a part of my income was derived from the C. M. & St. P. railway. Am I not entitled to exemption on this as a federal employee?

3. Are donations to organized charitable and relief societies for 1919 deductible from income, although such donations were for the relief of people in Germany and Austria?

4. Is the amount of federal income tax paid in 1919 deductible from income?

1. You would be entitled to this exemption only if you were her chief support on Dec. 31, 1919.

2. No. This is taxable income. Salaries received as an employee of the federal government are taxable income.

3. Only contributions made within the year to corporations organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and contributions to the special fund for vocational rehabilitation are deductible.

PROMOTER TELLS 'INSIDE STORY' OF MONORAIL DEAL

Charles T. Palmer, an attorney and promoter with offices in the Hartford building, yesterday threw an H. E. into the National Suspended Monorail company's plans to try monorail rapid transit at the expense of Chicago's $25,000,000 traction fund.

Mr. Palmer, whose residence is at 4321 Berkeley avenue, talked of "seven months of sub rosa negotiations with city officials," and announced that he has a year's option on the local use of company's patents.

Bither Is Named.

Mr. Palmer said William A. Bither, attorney for the board of education, was the man who proposed the monorail plan to Mayor Thompson seven months ago as the solution of the mayor's promise to give the city "the best transportation system in the world."

Mr. Bither was formerly a law partner of Charles R. Francis, a member of the mayor's commission, who is enthusiastic over the monorail plan.

When F. D. Flint, president of the monorail company, learned that the commission was irked at the failure of the commission to deal directly with Palmer, he is said to have called Mr. Palmer on the telephone and urged him not to "be a fool" and "not to spoil everything" by talking for publication.

Palmer Tells Story.

"But," said Attorney Palmer, "I have nothing to conceal and I'm sick of all this stir in favor of the monorail company when I hold a contract giving me the sole right to build monorails in Chicago until June 19, 1926."

"Here are the inside facts on the local monorail negotiations:

"Early last summer I dropped into the monorail office. I knew monorails, having studied them ever since I promoted the unicycle plan, which

TIP ON MONORAIL "SUCCESS" FAILS OF CONFIRMATION

ANOTHER tip regarding a monorail rapid transit system, such as is contemplated by Mayor Thompson's traction commission, was heard yesterday. John M. Stahl, president of the Farmers' National Life Insurance company, informed THE TRIBUNE that friends had told him a monorail system at Casper, Wyo., is alive, doing business, and a big success.

Here is the reply of THE TRIBUNE correspondent at Casper to a request that he investigate:

"Monorail system not in operation here. Promotion effort was a failure."

by which I could get together $5,000, 900 to back a monorail company. Flint signed a contract giving me the local rights until next June.

Bither Presents Plan.

"I went to Bither, who is a neighbor of mine. He was enthusiastic over the plan. I hired W. H. Hogenrath to draw up plans and am now negotiating with a capitalist to take the presidency of the company. Bither held the plan before the mayor and he immediately became married to it—saw in it the plan he had been looking for."

"But the next thing I knew the mayor had asked the council for $250,000, got it, appointed his commission, and negotiations were begun with Flint direct, despite my contract."

"Then came statements from various public officials boosting the monorail. Then came movies of the monorail with the mayor as the central figure. Then G. W. Jackson was hired as engineer."

"Now my proposition, submitted to the mayor by Mr. Bither, is that my company shall build five miles of monorail without a single cent of assistance from the city, with the understanding that the city is to take it over if it is a success. My company will post a bond to tear it down if it is not a success after we have operated it for a term of years and have had a chance to get our money back."

"But this plan apparently was turned down in favor of letting the city try the experiment with the traction fund. The public will not stand for that plan for a minute when they understand it."

"Flint figured that he had the cards stacked against me, but I have notified the mayor that he must come to me if he wants to build a monorail."

Mr. Palmer announced that he will have a representative at today's meeting of the mayor's traction commission.

Mayor Now Asks $350,000 for Street Car Fare Fight

Corporation Counsel Ettelson asked the city council finance committee yesterday to insert $350,000 in the 1926 budget to be spent in Mayor Thompson's fight for lower street car fares. The request did not come before the committee officially, but several members announced themselves "flabbergasted."

COUNCIL SCHEME TO LOWER RENTS HANGS BY THREAD

Mayor Doubts Power to Revoke Licenses.

The fate of the aldermanic campaign against high rents hung upon a legal thread last night.

Mayor Thompson, questioning his power to revoke the license of a real estate firm, sent the request of Ald. Mulcahy's special rent committee for the revocation of the Hool Realty Co. charter to Corporation Counsel Ettelson for an opinion.

Meanwhile the finance committee put off action on the demand of the committee for $500 for stenographer's fees, until today.

Alderman's Equalization Plan.

A boost in the rent of Ald. James Dorney of the Twenty-fourth ward bids fair to result in a move for an increase in the pay of aldermen from $3,500 to $5,000.

"My rent was raised $10 and another jump in the cost of living will send me to the prairies to live in a tent," the councilman announced. "I am going to introduce a resolution to raise the salaries of aldermen to $5,000."

The arbitration committee of the Chicago real estate board, which has succeeded in getting reductions in many rentals and has fixed others by arbitration, questioned E. H. Shepley of R. K. Beak & Co. because of the number of rental increases of considerable figures on properties owned or managed by the firm.

Shepley defended the increases by citing rising maintenance costs and of-

INCOME TAX LAGGARD FACES PENALTY

A QUESTION which frequently arises in connection with the income tax is, "What is the penalty for failure to file a return before March 15 or for not reporting one's income accurately?"

If a return is not filed within the specified time the taxpayer is subject to a penalty of $1,000 and to an additional assessment of 25 per cent of the amount of tax due.

Where a return is willfully false or fraudulent or contains false or fraudulent statements made with intent to evade the tax the penalty is a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, together with an additional assessment of 50 per cent of the amount of tax evaded.

Where the understatement is due to negligence without intent to defraud the penalty is 5 per cent, plus interest of 1 per cent a month on the amount of the deficiency from the time it was payable.

If an understatement is made without any fault of the taxpayer there is no penalty, but the tax will be increased to the proper amount.

A. J. C. writes: "Will you kindly tell how to handle the following situations for 1919? (1) Father and son were in partnership in 1919 until Dec. 4, when the father died, and the will was not probated until January, 1920. (2) A widow has two sons. One is 21 years old and pays board, while the other is under 18 and gives all his salary to his mother."

Answer: (1) A partnership return must be filed and the administrator or executor should file a fiduciary return for period from Dec. 4 to Dec. 31, 1919. (2) If either of the sons had an income of $1,000 in 1919 if single or $2,000 if married he will file his own return. If not the mother will include with her return the income of the son who is under 18.

Move to Free Foods Held Beyond Legal Time Limit

Further reductions in prices of cold storage foods, including eggs, butter, fish and poultry, were predicted by federal authorities yesterday as the result of a new government order for the immediate resurvey of Chicago food storage plants.

District Attorney Charles F. Clyne assigned a dozen investigators to check up supplies in warehouses of the district when he received a tip that six room flats were raised from $22.50 to $55 and seven rooms from $35 to $60. Mrs. Anna Tichy, owner.

Irwin Gehrlin, 5804 Indiana avenue, received a notice that his rent was boosted from $15 to $45. A week later a "corrected notice" from K. R. Beak & Co. informed him that the rent would be $47.50.

Antonione Volhoff, Russian consul, complained that H. N. Nichols, the agent of the building at 1364 East Forty-eighth street, is attempting to cancel his three year lease and raise his rent.

Approximate Price, delivered here, $75 per 1,000 francs, subject to exchange fluctuations.

At the normal rate of exchange, the same bond would cost, delivered here, about $195.

The principal attractions of the above loans are:

1. Drawings, semi-annually and annually, respectively, at 150%
2. Possibility of full profit of exchange on:

(a) Capital invested. (b) Redemption premium. (c) Yield

The following table shows the possible profit to be obtained from the ownership of a 1,000 franc bond on the basis of exchange gradually returning to normal in six years:

Period	Value of Franc in cents	Original Cost per 1,000 Francs	Value if Drawn at 150%	Profit on Original Investment	Income in Dollars During Period	Combined Profit and Income	Yield if Drawn at 150%	Yield if not Drawn Until Maturity
1 year	75	$75	$112.50	$37.50	$3.75	$41.25	55.00%	5.00%
2 "	10	75	150	75	8.75	83.75	55.80	6.66

*French bonds redeemed. Belgian bonds redeemed.

We suggest considering these issues on account of the above features, which enable investors not only to obtain the full profit on the return of exchange to normal, but also to secure a substantial increase of the capital originally invested through the semi-annual and annual drawings at 150%. We urge these investments as a means to improve the exchanges, which to our commerce and industry is of the greatest and most vital importance at this very moment.

VOTERS ADVISED NOT TO BE MERE RUBBER STAMPS

W. V. L. Makes Its Report Upon Candidates.

"You don't have to be a rubber stamp Tuesday. There is no party line in the selection of candidates and you are at perfect liberty to vote for the man in your ward up for election."

This is the last hour argument that a ward committee can make before the final vote is cast. The ward committee is the last line of defense against the influence of the party bosses.

Organization support or the lack of it should not be allowed to influence the voter's judgment, except as he may regard it as an evidence of character.

The ward committee is the last line of defense against the influence of the party bosses. It is the last line of defense against the influence of the party bosses.

As a rule, leaving aside the ten wards in which there is no contest, the W. V. L. endorsed the sitting aldermen in the majority of the wards.

The league does not discriminate between Thomas A. Green and Ald. Furman in the Eighth, or between Ald. Moran and David I. Swanson in the Thirty-first.

The league makes no recommendation in the Thirty-fourth, where Ald. Toman and George E. Sankstone are candidates.

In the Twenty-seventh, the league recommends Newton Jenkins, who fought at Gettysburg, for Ald. Watson's seat.

Auto Injuries Cause
Death of 7 Year Old Boy

Vincent Fradantoni, 7 years old, died yesterday of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile Tuesday night at his home at 2545 Lowe ave.

POLITICAL NOTES

The Fifteenth ward Republican organization has endorsed Ald. Oscar H. Wiegand for reelection Tuesday. Paul H. Wiegand for ward committeeman and Nels Juhl for the Republican nomination for congress.

William H. Malone, former chairman of the Illinois state board of equalization, is understood to be on his way to South Dakota, intending to challenge Gov. Lowden to a joint debate at Watertown tomorrow night.

Three thousand residents of the Thirty-fourth ward attended a stag party last night at the Douglas Park auditorium, given by Ald. Joseph O. Kostner and friends of Ald. John Toman in the interest of Ald. Toman's candidacy for reelection. Wrestling matches were among the evening's entertainment. The stag was a nonpartisan affair. Ald. Dorsey Crowe, Ald. A. J. Cornick, Ald. Kostner, and Max M. Korschak made talks in behalf of the ward of honor of the affair, Ald. Toman.

WOOD WOULD AID G. O. P. IN SOUTH, MANAGER SAYS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—[Special.]—Emphasizing the importance from a Republican congressional standpoint of the presidential candidate who will be strong in the south, Senator Moses of New Hampshire declared today that Gen. Leonard Wood would be an ideal selection.

Presidential row at the Congress was notably quiescent yesterday following the getaway of the women suffragists. Gen. Wood's itinerary was announced. He speaks at Omaha, Neb., Sunday and at Lincoln Monday. Tuesday he is at Yankton, S. D., and Wednesday makes speeches at Lennox, Canton, and Sioux Falls, and on Thursday at Dell Rapids, S. D. On Feb. 27 he speaks at Jackson, Mich.

Ald. McCormick, Steffen, Maypole, and Woodhull spoke last night for Ald. Joseph H. Smith in the Fourteenth ward. The recent death of Ald. Smith's wife and succeeding unfortunate circumstances have prevented Ald. Smith from making a personal campaign.

All of the Thirtieth ward candidates for alderman have been summoned to appear tonight before the "Kedzie Village," the community organization within the building of the Sears-Roebuck Y. M. C. A. All of them have indicated their intention of being present.

Gov. Edwards, Bryan Foe, in Nebraska Primary Race

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 19.—[Special.]—The name of Edward I. Edwards, governor of New Jersey, is to be filed with Nebraska secretary of state within the next few days as Democratic candidate for president. This action will be taken as a rebuke to William J. Bryan, who has undertaken to read Edwards out of the party, and to compel the Commoner to come out in support of Senator G. M. Hitchcock, his ardent political foe.

Judge Paint Value by the Cost of Property Replacement

Good paint like S-W P protects and saves repairs. Figure the square foot cost of such painting against replacement costs. Builders' wages are higher than ever heard of; building materials are sky high. Save what you have. Don't let your property decay for lack of a good paint, which costs but a fraction of a cent per square foot. Cheap paint looks cheap, is short lived, and leaves your building in the worst possible state for repainting.

Your Porch and Steps Get Harder Wear Than All Other Surfaces Around the Home

Protect them with paint, but when you paint them, don't make a mistake. Ordinary paint isn't tough and elastic enough, so we have Sherwin-Williams Porch and Deck Paint, made especially for this purpose, made differently from paint for sidings. It is extremely tough and durable, stands the hardest wear and the worst possible conditions of weather and exposure. You get attractive outdoor colors to select from in

Beautiful Stains

For Shingle Roofs and Bungalow Walls

S-W Preservative Shingle Stains come in many of the richest art colors. They are a great aid to architects in obtaining beautiful decorative effects, and a great satisfaction to home owners who enjoy tasteful effects outside as well as inside the home. The stains are permanent against rain, sunlight and heat. They penetrate deeply, toughen the wood and protect it remarkably against wear. This product certainly justifies its name—

Preservative Shingle Stain

is a product specifically manufactured to protect structural steel and iron work. It is made to protect valuable metal against surface wear while in use, and surface decay from exposure. It withstands heat expansion, contraction and moisture, as well as disintegration from smoke and gases which prevail in all manufacturing centers.

S-W Roof & Bridge Paint

is genuine protection when applied to outbuildings on farms, factories, fences, etc. A fine paint to use on unfinished lumber. It gives unusual cover, flows and brushes out easily, is tough, durable and the best per gallon value in the paint market for its purpose.

WOMEN OF BOTH PARTIES RALLY TO AID WALKER

A meeting was held yesterday for Ald. Earl Walker of the Twenty-first ward, at the residence of the chairman of his woman's committee, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank. The nonpartisan character of the election next Tuesday was emphasized by the presence of women of both big parties, among them Mrs. J. Hamilton Lewis, wife of the Democratic senator; Mrs. G. A. Carpenter, wife of the Republican federal judge; Mrs. E. O. Brown, whose husband was a Democratic judge; Mrs. R. H. McCormick, wife of the former Republican alderman of the Twenty-first; Mrs. Lockwood Honore, widow of the late Judge Honore, a well known Democrat; Mrs. Fred W. Upham, whose husband is a leader in the Republican party; Mrs. A. S. Chamberlin, long a woman leader in Chicago; Miss Grace Dixon of Gen. Wood's campaign committee; Mrs. James Kenley, a strong Wilsonian in the last campaign; Mrs. James Morrison; Mrs. Clarence Goodwin, wife of a former Democratic judge; Mrs. Russell Tyson, Mrs. A. S. Seabody, Mrs. Morrill Dunn, Republicans, and Mrs. Henry B. Mason and Mrs. J. M. Davis, Democrats.

Ald. Walker, in his speech made to the women, commented on the fact that under the old conditions it would have been impossible to collect a group of people whose party affiliations were so strong, and so different.

At a meeting in Ald. Walker's interests to be held tonight in North Side Turner hall, 823 North Clark street, Ald. A. McCormick and John Kjellander will speak.

Misses' Suits, Coats and Frocks

Certain New Spring Modes Moderately Priced

Here's opportunity surely instantly interesting to all young women. New fashions—different, and charming in their difference—are here for the choosing at prices that will make a determined expenditure go much farther than had been anticipated.

Tailored Tricotine Suits, $75

Tuckings close together make a panel at the back. Tuckings, too, trace a pattern on the pockets. Then there is a belt, and a row of buttons smartly placed. Sketched at the center.

Top-Coats of Chevrone, $60

Such a coat means smartness and service in every young girl's wardrobe. The fabric is firm, the colors copper-toned brown, dull blue, tan. Note the four pockets. Sketched at the right.

Taffeta Frocks With Sash and Panels of Moire at $60

The skirt has a bit of tunic puffed twice and the bodice has a long looped collar that ties in a nonchalant bow. It's indeed one of the most girlish, lovely taffeta frocks that have come this season of charming taffeta frocks. Sketched at the left.

These modes are selected with equal care and consideration as to quality as those for groups at the higher pricings.

Fourth Floor, South.

The Way of Mode With Misses' Blouses and Skirts

More and more are young girls choosing these together. And here are assortments to make that choice successful. For the blouses and separate skirts composing these groups have been assembled to complement each other.

Batiste Blouses, $2.50, $3.50, $5

The blouse at $2.50 has tiny frillings. That at $3.50, a Buster Brown collar of pique. The blouse at $5 has fine tuckings at the front.

Separate Skirts in Plaids, $13.75

Pockets and a wide girdle are the fashion features that mark these 1920 new. In colors one chooses smart-looking browns and blues.

Fourth Floor, North and East.

Soft Taffeta Silk Petticoats

Because of the February Sale, $7.95

Petticoats of unusually fine sateen on the lines of silk petticoats and in the dark colors, $3.50.

Third Floor, North.

There are not many days left in which to profit by these advantageous pricings. But assortments constantly replenished make selection as satisfactory as on the first day.

The Petticoat Sketched, Priced at $7.95

Is in slim, straight lines. It may be had in lovely changeable shades as well as plain colors for street wear. The flounce has a succession of frills. Other

New Tub Frocks for Schoolgirls

Now come the days girls choose these frocks eagerly. Their fresh crispness lends a new zest to school days. And now, indeed, is the time to choose them at February Sale prices which mean real savings.

At $12.50, Frocks Quaintly Frilled

These are of fine muslin in buff or blue. There's a panel at the front outlined in black stitching and narrow black velvet ribbons as girdles. Just for girls of 6, 8 and 10 years. Sketched at the left.

At $17.50, Frocks a Bit on Coat Lines

The blouse with its vest of organdie, fold on fold, and button-weighted tabs, gives this smart coat effect. These frocks may be had in chambray, dark brown, beige or lavender. In sizes 12, 14 and 16 years. Sketched at the right.

Very Specially Priced—Girls' Tub Frocks at $3.50

A dozen different styles and all sizes—not in every size, however. Every frock new—just come, in fact. There are gingham frocks plaid and plain, chambrays in soft colorings. They have smart white collars, pockets, cleverly cut belts. Just the sort of frocks to choose in plenty for immediate wear.

PLOTTERS' 'S-SH' WISSES TO HOYNE LIKE A RED BOMB

Meeting Is Secret, but Murder Will Out.

The Knights of the Red Star plotted their attack on the city of Chicago last night. Then, one by one, they slipped through the streets, to their rendezvous, a basement on a thirty-third street block on a west side street.

Article I of the constitution of the knights, stipulates that meetings shall always be held in a basement or a sewer and surrounded with much mystery and no lights.

Thus Dmitri and Mawrus and Ivan and Alexander and five others found themselves parked on rough board sidewalks in an atmosphere of garlic and moldy spuds.

"Consecrated to Revolution."

But Dmitri et al. didn't care for secrets. Were they not the local leaders of the Knights of the Red Star? Were they not consecrated to the Revolution?

In the dark for an hour they talked their dreams of sudden power and riches, and they planned and plotted. When the meeting ended, one of the knights—the one with the silver star concealed under his vest—hastened to a hotel office.

So it came that Assistant State's Attorney Marvin Barnhart and Lloyd Smith last night made public information of an alleged conspiracy to bomb the offices of State's Attorney Hoyne and a plot for their assassination, as the assistants engaged in the prosecution of the Communist and Communist labor parties and the I. W. W.

Expect Several Arrests.

The plan, according to the attorneys, was to be some weeks in maturing, investigations, now under way, are expected to result in numerous arrests.

Among the leaders of the knights, according to Assistant State's Attorney Smith, is Morris Stolar, now under indictment in connection with his alleged activities in the Communist party of America. Stolar is now at large under $10,000 bonds. He could not be located last night.

The Knights of the Red Star, it was asserted, have long been known as a nucleus of radical violence in the city. It is said to be an outgrowth of the old Green Circle of St. Petersburg, Russia, an organization formed by immigrants and active members of the secret police of the Czarist empire.

Bring Prisoners Here.

Charles E. Ruthenberg, executive secretary of the Communist Party of America, will be brought back to Chicago today by Detective P. D. McManis. Ruthenberg, who is wanted under an indictment here charging violation of the state sedition act, has been sought for months by the police. Recommendations for the deportation of eighty alien radicals taken by the government in recent Chicago raids have been forwarded to Secretary of Labor Wilson.

THREAT TO "GET" LAWYER DOUBLES CAPTIVES' BONDS

"Men as dangerous as these should not be allowed to get bonds," said Assistant State's Attorney Hartley L. Reple to Judge Sheridan E. Fry yesterday in the Stock Yards court. The judge held Timothy J. McPhillips and James Burns to the grand jury for stealing $300 from the Home Fuel and Supply company, 3307 South Canal street, and $40 from the saloon of Michael Wickert, 300 West Third street. McPhillips, already under $25,000 bonds, was held for $25,000. Burns was held for $12,000. "I'll get you for making a speech like that," shouted McPhillips as he was led away.

Judge Fry called the prisoners back to the court. "You are dangerous men," the judge then raised McPhillips' bonds to $47,500 and Burns' to $24,400. McPhillips and Burns beat Detective Sergeant James Stewart on the head with the butts of their revolvers when they were arrested.

Parks Car in 'Police Lane,' Still Auto Thieves Get It

J. L. Kramer, 160 West Lake street, decided that "police lane," that portion of La Salle street between Randolph and Lake streets, was the safest place to park his car. He left the machine last night in front of 180 North La Salle street, which is the central detail station, directly across the street from the detective bureau.

When he went to get it he found it had been misplaced his confidence. The car was gone.

Notice to Help Wanted Advertisers

During the present paper shortage, all Help Wanted advertising will be omitted from the country edition.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

Augustana hospital workers have raised over $74,000 of the $700,000 sought for a new hospital.

Mrs. E. H. Hederich of Kansas City asked the detective bureau to help her find her sister-in-law, Artus Cochran, 16.

Entertainments to raise funds to buy school equipment will be abolished by the school board, such purchases to be provided for in the budget.

A truck and taxi cab collided at Twenty-first and Michigan and Alton Lignet, a coked at the U. of C. and J. G. Coulter, 5534 Kimbark avenue, were slightly injured.

Frank Porter, picked up in Detroit, was recognized through a photograph to the detective bureau, as Earl Lovelady, wanted in Kenosha for murder, safebreaking, and jailbreaking.

Charles Cherry, sought in connection with alleged graft in the sale of parts of government auto trucks, was recognized through a photograph to the detective bureau, as Earl Lovelady, wanted in Kenosha for murder, safebreaking, and jailbreaking.

After holding the police at bay for more than twelve hours, Arthur Denys, junior of the flat building at 7244-46 Harvard avenue, surrendered voluntarily to Capt. John J. Ryan of the Englewood station.

Say it with flowers. "Affable Louie" Chormokos, for seventeen years proprietor of the Athena cafe, 1521 North Clark street, has become a florist at Wilson avenue and Broadway. He sold the saloon to George Salos, an optimistic employer.

Less than 600 depositors withdrew from the Lincoln State bank, 3105 South State, in the run that began five days ago. It is believed the flurry, said to have been started by a disgruntled man who was turned down on a loan, is now over for good.

Bernard J. Mahony, former assistant state's attorney, was sued for $20,000, because he, it is said, failed to file a damage suit within statutory time for Florence Egan, 1414 West Ninety-fifth street, against the Royal Furniture and Carpet company.

"I have asked the chief of police to close down the buildings and plants of five persistent violators of the smoke ordinance," Dr. Robertson said. "The police will act tomorrow. Put that in the paper. I wish every violator to spend the day wondering whether it is his plant that has been hit."

A former inmate of Pontiac was arrested for the murder of Otis Ammon, an American railway express company collector, on Jan. 26. The suspect is a former employee of the company. Ammon was shot at Forty-third and Wallace streets while carrying $6,000. The gang of three men escaped in an auto with $700.

Defense of cases against the city in the municipal courts by Corporation Counsel Eitelson's assistants is being investigated by Chief Justice Harry Olson. The fact that an inquiry is under way became known when Mr. Eitelson sent a legal opinion to the city council finance committee yesterday suggesting that Judge Olson may have drawn $15,000 illegally as a part of his salary between 1912 and 1918.

AFTER BACKERS OF POLICEMAN WHO LURED GIRL

The crime commission began investigation yesterday of an alleged attempt by politicians to protect Dorsey Chambliss, the Negro policeman who used his uniform, according to the death statement of Bertha Wiebeck, to betray her into a house of ill fame. They want to send him to prison.

Chambliss will appear before Judge Stelk in the Municipal court tomorrow for a preliminary hearing on charges of contributing to the delinquency of the 18 year old white girl from Pawnee, Okla., Kas., who said the policeman guided her to the back room of a notorious South State street cafe.

Louis B. Anderson, Negro alderman from the Second ward, was originally retained by Chambliss as his lawyer. As associate counsel in the case yesterday appeared James P. Harrold of the law firm of Lyle, Harrold, Hoover & Devitt, of which Aid. John H. Lyle is the senior member.

Mr. Lyle became indignant when his attention was called to his partner's identification with the affair. He declared he had nothing to do with the case.

PREPARE TO PUT CITY ON ARMY HEALTH BASIS

Leaders to Launch Huge Institute Monday.

One of the first benefits of the world war to assume definite shape in Chicago will be the Public Health Institute, which has been incorporated at Springfield by a group of prominent citizens. It will throw its doors open to the public on Monday morning at 21 North La Salle street.

The new institution will serve two purposes. It will attempt to educate the public to divorce the moral and medical sides of the venereal disease question, that the problem may be solved in a quick and efficient manner. Secondly, it will endeavor to offer to the citizens of Chicago at nominal cost the same health safeguards and curative and preventive treatment which the men received in the army and navy.

Headed by Gen. Ryan.

Brig. Gen. James A. Ryan, who commanded the second officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan, is president of the institute. Maj. Albert A. Sprague is treasurer and the Rev. Myron E. Adams secretary.

Among the other incorporators of the project are Harold McCormick, Samuel Insull, Clyde M. Carr, H. M. Bylesby, A. A. Carpenter, and R. T. Crane.

Dr. Joseph G. Berkowitz, who served as an instructor in neurology in the medical corps during the war, is managing director and will be assisted by a staff of physicians who will give their full time to the work and will be paid sufficient salaries to enable them to put forth their best efforts.

Will Guard Against Quacks.

One of the most important things the new institution is expected to do is to guard the young men of the city from falling into the hands of medical quacks.

"The great lessons learned in the war have made this possible," said Dr. Berkowitz. "We hope to extend the benefits of this institute until they have reached every home and venereal disease will have been brought down to the minimum."

"We shall adopt the same policy as the army and navy. That is, every one who has been exposed to these diseases should be given treatment. The moral question does not enter here. The big idea is for a better and healthier community, and this can be brought about only when every single person is willing to cooperate."

"Pay What You're Able."

"Then, too, a person will not become discouraged and go without proper treatment for lack of funds. A patient will pay what he or she is able to without cutting down the necessary living expenses. He who pays little will receive the same treatment as he who can afford more. I should say that the fees will average about one-sixth to one-third of what treatment would cost at the hands of specialists."

The institute will expand as the need arises. If more clinics are demanded they will be established as rapidly as our staff can be expanded and properly maintained."

Oak Park and River Forest Limit School Annex Plans

The school trustees of Oak Park and River Forest yesterday decided to build a much smaller addition to the township high school than was contemplated when $300,000 was raised by a bond issue last year. It was found that, owing to the increase in cost of materials and labor, the proposed addition could not be built for less than $525,000.

Police Protest Budget Cut to Chief Garrity

Alarmed at the action of the city council finance committee, which has reduced the proposed police appropriation for 1920 by an amount which will throw nearly 500 policemen out of jobs, a committee of patrolmen called upon Chief Garrity yesterday. The chief could only reiterate that the plan would cripple his department and increase the crime menace.

BOY LOOPHOUND TRAPPED AT 19 AS EMBEZZLER

Admits Looting Boss of $25,000 Goods.

The detectives sized the boy up and said he was too young; he didn't have brains enough to put it over. Then they started taking an inventory. When they reached the $20,000 mark they changed their minds.

That was after Earl W. Taylor, a 19 year old son of C. E. Taylor, a retired business man, living at 4409 Madison street, was arrested yesterday charged with embezzling stock and supplies of an estimated value of $25,000 from the Inland Electric company at 14 North Franklin street.

This boy made a full confession to the police. He admitted that he had stolen $25,000 worth of goods from the Inland Electric company. He also admitted that he had stolen $25,000 worth of goods from the Inland Electric company.

Eight days ago young Taylor left the loop. It was learned that on Jan. 7 he had married a motion picture actress, who is now in Los Angeles. Sergeant James L. Devereux of the Moonby and Boland corporation trailed the youth to Los Angeles. There he disappeared.

Sergeant Devereux picked up the trail again in Topeka, Kas., and got on a train bound for Chicago with the boy. On arriving here the boy was arrested and taken to the detective bureau.

Taylor was a salesman for the electric company.

RESERVES GRAB SPEEDY BURGLAR IN MOVIE CHASE

David Seaman, 2422 Moffatt street, proved a failure last night as an entrant in the Burglar's Marathon. Agard Billing, 1321 Eddy street, returned home with his wife and a year old son about 3 o'clock. Hearing a noise in the kitchen, he found Seaman rifling the place.

Seaman left in haste. Billing pursued. The chase covered blocks. Lieut. Frank H. Hermanson, Sergeant J. J. Walsh, and Buck Private F. F. Lederer of the police reserve were at Sheffield station when the call came in. Picking up Billing and Seaman's trail, they ran the quarry down. Seaman admitted he was the man wanted, the police say. He is 23 years old.

GOV. LOWDEN SETS LOYALTY WEEK BEGINNING FEB. 22

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 19.—Gov. Frank O. Lowden has issued the following proclamation regarding the observance of Loyalty week, beginning Sunday, Feb. 22:

"The suggestion that the people of the United States should celebrate one week in the year as Loyalty week meets my hearty approval. I commend it to the favorable consideration of every patriotic citizen of Illinois. What week so fitting for this purpose as that which begins on Washington's birthday?"

"No man in the history of the world ever left a more priceless heritage to his countrymen than this."

"In these days when Americanization is in the mind of every citizen, when earnest efforts are being made to instill into our people of foreign origin the fundamental principles of our national life, and when the attention of the world is fixed upon the struggles of nations seeking sure governmental foundations for the future, Americans may well rejoice in the possession of those institutions which have been handed down to us by the fathers and to which we have been devoted in the years that are gone."

"I therefore urge that churches, schools, and citizens generally unite in celebrating the week beginning with Washington's birthday as Loyalty week, seeking in meetings of various kinds to strengthen the ties which bind us together as a great people."

"FRANK O. LOWDEN."

"Build More Railroads."

M. D. Smith of Detroit said one way to solve the building problem is to build more railroads to help transport material. He spoke at a session of the Associated General Contractors of America in the Hotel Morrison.

The delegates subscribed $150,000 for research and other work of the association for 1920. Resolutions were adopted advocating the establishment of a national department of public works. A telegram was sent to Vice President Marshall requesting that the railroad be returned to their owners by March 1.

W. A. Rogers of the Bates & Rogers Construction company of Chicago was elected president of the association and George W. Buchholz was re-elected secretary.

High rents and the shortage in homes were dealt with in a resolution adopted by the National Conference on Concrete House Construction which closed last night at the Auditorium hotel.

After declaring the shortage in buildings was partly due to the labor shortage, the cure was prescribed as noninterference by the government in house building; allocation of cars for the Ninth ward, who was discharged from the job by the Democratic board in 1916, was elected in Carter's place.

BUILDERS AND MEN TO CONFER ON 25% BOOST

Labor Shortage Cited to Back $1.25 Plea.

Representatives of twenty-three contractors' associations and delegates from the Chicago Building Trades council will hold a joint meeting some time next week to discuss the proposed demands of the union men for a 25 per cent increase in wages.

President Simon O'Donnell of the trades council yesterday visited Secretary E. H. Craig of the Building Contractors' Employers' association, and after it was over both told of the joint meeting, but said no date had been agreed upon.

The union men will submit a demand for $1.25 an hour in place of the present rate of $1, ascribing their action to the high cost of living and the scarcity of building trades labor.

O'Donnell said approximately 40,000 members of the trades council are working in other cities at a higher rate than they can get here. He said the council has a membership of 60,000.

QUESTION OF THE DAY.

Do you believe in capital punishment as the maximum penalty for murder?

DUDLEY GRANT HAYS of 1641 Estes avenue, a public school official—Yes, give a fellow his own medicine. If he doesn't respect the rights of a human being to live, he shouldn't be permitted that same privilege himself.

MRS. JOHN A. RYERSON of 43 Cedar street—I feel that one who murders his fellow man should be given the supreme penalty, but I consider that life imprisonment is that penalty. It's the worst punishment that can be inflicted on one.

T. C. SECKERT of 3222 Broadway, a bank clerk—I should say yes. Anybody who commits murder deserves to be hanged. It makes prospective murderers think twice before killing.

RUSSEL A. SKIFF of 1230 West Adams street, a Salvation army worker—I don't believe in it, because there's so much fake evidence gotten up that you never can be sure you're hinging the guilty man.

J. C. ATWOOD of St. Louis, manufacturer—Capital punishment is necessary to discipline the criminally inclined. There are lots of people who kill on the chance of getting a pardon who would do it if they felt sure of being hanged.

"We have about 10,000 customers," he said, "and hundreds of permits are issued allowing us to move liquor for nonbeverage use and other legitimate purposes. We do with the revenue partnership daily. Our books are, of course, open to government inspection at any time."

Whether or not William Howard Chandler, 1115 N. La Salle street, was certainly was one in this town, take the word of Policeman Thomas F. Meagher Jr. for it.

Meagher had been looking with suspicion at the uniform. Chandler was wearing. Taking him to one side last night, Meagher learned the youth had been discharged last June and had no right to the uniform. A search of Chandler's clothes revealed a book containing the names and addresses of sixty women, some married.

Meagher also picked up Arthur Wiley of 4908 Indiana avenue, and Aaron E. Luns of Columbia. Wiley, he said, was a chameleon. One day he'd wear civvies, the next job togs and the next army clothes.

Objections to claims totaling approximately $1,500,000 against the estate of Frederick W. von Frantzius, late La Salle street broker, which have been allowed but not paid by the administrators, were filed in the Probate court yesterday by Peter von Frantzius and Mrs. Annemaria von Frantzius Nachtigall, son and daughter of the broker.

They allege that the claims are based on gambling transactions with Von Frantzius and the firm of Von Frantzius & Co.; that they are therefore not legal or binding and should not have been allowed by the administrators. Among the claims objected to are those of Joseph Byfield, for $104,145; Richard Yates Hoffman, for $22,818; F. W. Bering, for $11,643; and Dr. I. A. Abt, for $12,724.

Arrested as Check Forger in Mail Order House

Otis Cassidy of 2209 West Monroe street was arrested yesterday by operatives of the William J. Burns Detective agency as he was leaving Montgomery Ward & Co.'s, charged with passing forged checks. According to the Burns men, Cassidy has been operating for nearly a year, obtaining about $2,000.

BARE $500,000 BOOZE LEAK AND SEIZE 2 LAWYERS

U. S. Agent Sought as Aid to Bootleggers.

Uncle Sam's dry agents yesterday stopped a $500,000 liquor "leak" that has flooded Chicago with rare bourbon. Two attorneys were arrested and a warrant issued for Deputy United States Revenue Collector Jesse Barnett.

The government coup and the huge liquor plot were revealed by Maj. A. V. Dalrymple, chief of district prohibition agents, when his men demanded that Attorney Anthony Polczynski, 2235 South Millard avenue, be held under $5,000 bonds to the federal grand jury. He is alleged to be one of Chicago's bootlegging ring charged with disposing of hundreds of cases of Grommes & Ulrich whiskey on bogus United States revenue permits spirited through the federal department by the missing Barnett.

The agents also swore out a warrant before Commissioner Mark A. Foote for the arrest of Attorney Otto Ring as another middleman in the scheme. He is ill at his home on the southwest side and has been placed under the guard of deputy marshals.

U. S. Deputy Reins.

Barnett, a deputy employed in the nonbeverage alcohol section of the revenue department, resigned last Monday when he learned of the investigation. It was said at his home, 304 South Marshall boulevard, that he is enjoying a fifteen day leave of absence somewhere in the south. Orders were at once flashed to federal agents all over the country calling for his arrest.

The new booze plot, the biggest yet tapped by prohibition officers, is said to involve scores of purchasers throughout the city. Investigators asked for federal warrants late yesterday to seize the books of the Grommes & Ulrich firm in order to check up on all of the liquor that has been taken from the firm's warehouses.

Maj. Dalrymple predicted that heads of the liquor firm, John H. Grommes, president; Frank A. Rehm, vice president; and Frederick Diehl, secretary, will probably be located.

340 Cases in One Deal.

The agents allege that Attorney Polczynski, the son-in-law of Albert Wochowski, prominent banker of the southwest side, withdrew 340 cases of whiskey from the liquor firm's warehouse in one transaction alone after Barnett, the revenue man, had obtained permits for the withdrawal and transportation of that amount, to be used for "nonbeverage" purposes, later charging the permits to read "transfer and disposal." The whiskey, they declare, was taken to several saloons on the northwest side and there sold in case lots to hundreds of the initiated.

Frederick Diehl, secretary of the Grommes & Ulrich company, denied any knowledge of the bootlegging transactions.

"We have about 10,000 customers," he said, "and hundreds of permits are issued allowing us to move liquor for nonbeverage use and other legitimate purposes. We do with the revenue partnership daily. Our books are, of course, open to government inspection at any time."

GRAIN PRICES ADVANCE AFTER AN EARLY BREAK

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Barish factors lost their effect after an early break in grains, the market being overvalued in a way that required the balance of the day to even up. Selling pressure became light and did not increase until top prices were reached. Late strength in the cash markets, especially corn, combined with higher rates for foreign exchange and a stronger stock market helped to create a better feeling at the last. Net gains on corn were 1 1/2¢ to 2 1/2¢, with February leading. Oats gained 1/2¢ to 1 1/2¢, with May leading. Barley advanced 1/2¢ to 1 1/2¢, with May leading. The grain market was active and well supported, with a strong demand for foreign exchange and a stronger stock market.

A letup in the local pressure on the corn market with rather persistent buying by strong commission houses quickly absorbed the surplus in the pit, and May, after being fractionally lower early, advanced 1/2¢ and closed within 1/2¢ of the top. February led the uptick, closing at 1 1/2¢, or 1/2¢ over March.

Buffalo messages reported railroads taking grain at that market, although some still have not embarked. A new drive at the cost of high living is expected in the near future, but was not market factor. The grain corporation has offered to recall all of its straight flour at the seaboard at $10.65 per bbl., prompt shipment. Weakness in wheat was also ignored.

Wheat sold for export. Efforts to depress oil prices by seaboard exporters by reports of resales of American oil and purchases of Canadian counted for little, May advancing 1/2¢ after a small dip at the start, and closed within 1/2¢ of the top.

General selling carried May rye off 1/2¢ early, but heavy buying by cash interests and houses with seaboard connections advanced prices 1/2¢ from the bottom, with the close within a fraction of the top. Export sales of 50,000 bu were reported at the seaboard with claims of 100,000 bu more. Seaboard bids were 11 1/2¢ over May, track Baltimore, with 25,000 bu secured at that figure. No. 2 on track sold at $1.57 1/2¢, or 1/2¢ over May. Receipts, 5 cars.

Barley prices were unchanged with sales at $1.22 1/2¢ to $1.25, although the undertone was much firmer in sympathy with other grains. Receipts, 10 cars.

Selling of May lard against 400,000 lb bought at country points at $1.00 under the May, combined with free sales by New York longs and stockyard interests, depressed prices. Stocks Feb. 1, as reported by the bureau of markets, were over 25,000,000 lb, or an increase of 25,000,000 lb for the month, were depressing factors. Buying of lard and rib fat was light and mainly by commission houses at $1.25, with the last held for a small rally at the close. Green hams were in good demand to cover shorts for eastern shipments, with 25¢ paid for 16 lb averages. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

All the grain exchanges of the United States will be closed Monday, Feb. 22, in honor of Washington's birthday.

Too many bears and not enough corn was the feature of yesterday's corn market. There is a fair quantity being moved in the country, as primary arrivals are largely in excess of last year's. Chicago, however, is not getting the run expected, and outside markets are paying relatively better prices than here, and do not appear to be tending up to any extent. Commission houses are buying on all sharp breaks and have no corn to hand back to the short sellers on bulges of 24¢ or more, the market sensationally winding up and unwinding within about 24¢ swings.

Iowa is getting more cars and a larger movement of grain in that state is expected. It has been disappointing of late, and industries there have had some difficulty in securing supplies, which will be relieved for the present.

Shorts in corn who did not cover in the open market late yesterday did so through holdings of offers at the close. This left the market technically weaker and in no position to withstand any heavy selling. The disposition among most of the local traders is to work on the bear side on the economical situation as the basis.

Farmers are not pessimistic on grain, although they have good supplies. Numerous good arguments are being put out favoring lower prices, which induce short selling by speculators, but have little or no effect on farmers so far.

Houses with New York connections who were large buyers of oats Wednesday were among the heaviest sellers yesterday. One of the largest cash houses bought July and sold May at 7 1/2¢ to 7 3/4¢, and they have been active in that way for several days. Spreading between Chicago and Winnipeg is also a feature in the oat trade, the difference yesterday being 1 1/2¢, the widest so far since the start.

Wheat sold for export. Efforts to depress oil prices by seaboard exporters by reports of resales of American oil and purchases of Canadian counted for little, May advancing 1/2¢ after a small dip at the start, and closed within 1/2¢ of the top.

HYDE PARK HAS $51,326 DEALS IN ONE BLOCK

BY AL CHASE.

Hyde Park stepped down stage yesterday with two of the largest real estate deals put through in that district in several years—aggregating $51,326—in the same block, the seller being the same in each transaction.

The larger of the two was the purchase by James J. Carroll for the Hyde Park State Bank from John S. Henry C. and the entire 200 feet frontage, depth 85 feet, on the south side of East Fifty-third street, between Lake Park and Harper avenues, for $261,326. The purchaser gave a purchase money mortgage for $150,000, three years at 5 1/2 per cent.

The block is one of the best business properties in Hyde Park and has been in the hands of the Phillips for many years. It is improved with two story business buildings, with twelve stores, offices, and flats. The bank is at the Lake Park corner and the Gardner's candy shop at the Harper avenue corner. John A. Carroll and Brother have had their main real estate offices in this block for several years.

Bank to Enlarge.

The bank will make extensive alterations and enlarge its quarters and the Harper avenue corner will be sold. John A. Carroll and Brother, managers of the property, represented at parties, with John Fitzgerald attorney.

In Harper avenue, just south of this property, on the east side of the street, the Hyde Park State Bank, lot 266100, Phillips to Courtney R. Gleason for $50,000. This is one of the best maintained properties in the district, its lawns, trees, and shrubs being especially attractive.

A third south side deal in which the Phillips figured was the sale by them to Mr. Gleason of the eighteen apartment and store building at the southwest corner of Halsted and Fifty-seventh streets, 105,120, for $100,000. Raymond E. Herman represented both parties in the two apartment sales.

$100,000 for Corner.

An indicated $100,000 was paid by George K. Ogden of C. A. Ogden & Sons to John J. Hall for the three story and flat building, 4511 1/2, at the southeast corner of Western avenue and West Madison street.

Richard J. Bates has sold to Lawrence Williams, trustee, the fifty-three flat building, lot 150,100, at the northeast corner of Winthrop and Glenlake avenues, for an indicated $61,000, subject to $11,000.

The Continental Car company has leased through Robert White & Co. from W. O. Coleman, 40,000 square feet of manufacturing space at 2219-23 South Halsted street, for ten years at a term rental of $120,000.

Building Permits

Eight permits were issued. Those in excess of $5,000 were:

Richard J. Bates, 2711 1/2 and Illinois Central railroad, three story and flat building, lot 27,100, at the northeast corner of Western avenue and West Madison street, for $18,000.

Madison W. 233-35, 100,000, 2711 1/2 and Illinois Central railroad, three story and flat building, lot 27,100, at the northeast corner of Western avenue and West Madison street, for $18,000.

Madison W. 233-35, 100,000, 2711 1/2 and Illinois Central railroad, three story and flat building, lot 27,100, at the northeast corner of Western avenue and West Madison street, for $18,000.
